Threat Of High Water 'Diminishes' In Locality

By Don Carlson
A HIGH water threat to eastern Pennsylvania "diminished" temporarily last night when the storm front was blocked south of Harrisburg, authorities reported.
During early afternoon hours, weather observers predicted the storm might dump between one and three inches of snow in the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg vicinity.
Close checks on the front revealed a short time later that its passage was halted by "a cold front that passed through (here) the other day."
The keen watch kept by Civil Defense as a precautionary measure later resulted in a report "everything in good shape."
The slight drizzle that prevailed throughout yesterday proved to have dropped a mere two-tenths of an inch of rain. Streams, also, were said to be in "pretty good shape."
The front currently at a standstill near Harrisburg will lessen in potential threat the longer it remains still, an official said. "The longer it stays there," it was pointed out, "the less rain it'll have when it begins to move."
Walter Scott, acting rivermaster at Milford, reported that by 6 p.m. yesterday, the Delaware River had shown "no appreciable increase."
In the immediate Milford area, he said, much of the snow which fell last Thursday had melted. The ground, he continued, soaked up most of it, and there was very little runoff.
Weather Bureau at A-B-E Airport reported it does not expect flooding in the Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton area, unless a large additional amount of rain falls.

Dulles In Opposition To Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States would lose its shirt, Secretary of State Dulles said yesterday, if it went to a summit meeting on the latest Russian terms.
He declared the meeting would become something much worse than a spectacle and that the U.S. government would never pay this "terribly high price."
At the same time Dulles kept the door open for further talks to give the Kremlin an opportunity to modify the conditions it has set for a summit conference.
Conference
Addressing a news conference, Dulles denounced and ridiculed a note Moscow sent Monday. The note renewed the Soviet demand for an immediate heads-of-government meeting without waiting for lower level negotiations to ease existing problems.
The Soviet note bluntly rejected a U.S. demand that German unification and conditions in Eastern Europe be discussed at the parley.
"I would say that if those terms were accepted it would turn the summit meeting into something much worse than a spectacle," Dulles said. "It would mean that on the way to the summit we would have lost our shirt."
Dulles insisted that advance talks through ambassadors or foreign ministers are an indispensable prerequisite to any meeting of world leaders.
"If it is apparent that a summit meeting could only lead to a sharpening of differences, then it is better not to have one," he said.

Romania Dancer Seeks Asylum

LONDON (AP)—Doina Trandafir, 22-year-old Romanian dancer who slipped away from her troupe in Britain, applied yesterday for asylum as a political refugee from her Communist homeland.
A Home Office spokesman said her application is being considered.

West Germany Votes For Atom Weapons

BONN (AP)—West Germany's Parliament voted last night to let German soldiers have atomic weapons as part of the defense of Europe.
A vote on the bitterly fought atomic issue came shortly before midnight, climaxing a record four-day debate.
Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and his Christian Democrat party beat back all moves by the opposition Socialists and Free Democrats to renounce nuclear arms or delay a decision on their acceptance.
Adenauer's absolute majority in the Bundestag assured him of victory before the voting on 13 measures began. But the socialists served notice that they would not drop their campaign.
No Roll Call
There was no roll call vote on the government motion to permit Bonn troops to be equipped with atomic weapons. It came after a show of hands rejected a Free Democrat motion to bar atomic weapons for West German troops.
The deputies were recorded on a Free Democrat motion that the Bundestag declare itself opposed to stocking atomic weapons or establishing atomic bases in either half of divided Germany. That proposal was turned down 269-194.
The debate was the longest in the Bundestag's history and was marked by frequent bitter exchanges.
The opposition parties charged the government's plan threatens West Germany with a national emergency and called for an attempt to solve East-West problems by negotiation. The Free Democrats went further, proposing that opposition and government parties get together to form a new government without Adenauer at its head.
Every Word
Every word of the record debate was broadcast by radio and all reports said the West German public was deeply stirred by the deliberations.
Even as the debate went on, 1,100 workers at an auto plant in Kassel went on a wildcat strike to protest against atomic armament.

McGonigle Issues Charge Of Waste

WARREN, Pa. (AP)—Arthur T. McGonigle, organization candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, yesterday charged that the state "is on the verge of financial chaos because of the waste and extravagance of the Leader administration."
The Reading businessman promised that if elected he will provide a "determined, dynamic state administration dedicated to driving the political corruptionists out of Harrisburg."
Running Mate
McGonigle's remarks were contained in speeches at the courthouse here and at Clarion and Tionesta. McGonigle and his running mate for lieutenant governor, John M. Walker, of Pittsburgh, are touring Western Pennsylvania counties.
McGonigle said he will make no irresponsible or rash promises during his campaign, adding:
"All I can truthfully promise is a lot of hard work and a common sense in the application of good business practices to the expenditure of vast sums of hard earned taxpayer dollars."
In a statement at the close of the day's tour, McGonigle said "the recreational needs of the people living in large population centers will be a major concern of my administration."

Churchill Leaves Bed

ROQUEBRUNE, France (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill left his sick bed yesterday for the first time in four days and turned his thoughts to an early return to England. The 83-year-old former prime minister was taken ill with pneumonia and pleurisy five weeks ago.
An official bulletin said "Sir Winston Churchill now is getting about again after a passing setback and will be able to return to England when the weather is more favorable."

Ike Proposes More Money

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower yesterday proposed more aid for people long out of work and laid plans for faster government spending to help end the economic slump.
In taking these steps, the administration veered farther away from using tax reduction as a means of stimulating the economy.
Eisenhower sent a special message to Congress calling for a 50 per cent extension of the period in which the unemployed may draw jobless benefits.
Also, Republican leaders in Congress said after a White House conference that Eisenhower will ask authority to speed up government buying by another 600 million dollars.
Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate Republican leader, said this request will be in the form of a letter going Wednesday to House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.).
Eisenhower discussed his unemployment compensation plan last week with a committee representing the Governors' Conference.
In presenting it formally Tuesday, the President said the federal government has the duty of tempering the hardship suffered by workers whose unemployment has been prolonged.
He added an optimistic note, saying he is convinced that "the need for additional assistance to these workers will be of relatively brief duration."
The White House estimated that the cost of the extension arrangement—a federal supplement of existing state benefit programs—would run to 500-600 million dollars.
Workers who have used up their benefits in states which pay for 26 weeks could collect for 13 more weeks, if they were out of work that long. In states which make payments for 20 weeks, the jobless could get the benefits for another 10.
Under Eisenhower's plan, the necessary extra money would be advanced by the federal government.
States could get the money for repayment by raising the tax on employers' payrolls in future years. Alternatively, they could make direct appropriations for repayment, or authorize a transfer of their credits in the unemployment trust fund which is a part of the unemployment compensation system.

Youthful Gang Slugs Teacher

NEW YORK (AP)—Ten teen-aged members of the Bronx youth gang were arrested yesterday on charges they slugged a private school teacher with a baseball bat.
The youths, all Negroes ranging in age from 13 to 18, were members of a street gang, the Sportsmen. They were rounded up during the day in the area surrounding the scene of the attack, police said.
The six older boys were former inmates of the Otisville, N.Y., reformatory and the four under 16 were students at a school for incorrigibles.
Police said the youths admitted beating the school teacher while exhilarated by wine.
The youths claimed the teacher, Arthur Santos, 36, was attacked only after he swung a baseball bat at them and missed.
Santos said half a dozen youths invaded his outdoor recreation class at Crotona Park Monday and began robbing his pupils, some of them as young as 9.
When Santos threatened to call police, he claimed, the youths turned on him and beat him with a bat they wrested from his grip. He said one of them also threatened him with a knife and that they took $16 from his pockets.
Santos, white teacher for a Seventh Day Adventist school, had eight stitches taken in a scalp wound and five others in a lip wound. His pupils are white.

Five Perish In Florida Plane Crash

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Five persons were killed last night in the crash of a private plane which went down in the Atlantic 2 1/2 miles east of Hollywood, Fla.
The Coast Guard, which reported the death toll, said a sixth person is critically injured.
The dead, none of whom has been identified, are a boy, a girl, two women and a man. A seriously injured man is thought to have been the pilot.
Out Of Gas
The plane apparently ran out of gas over the Atlantic. A commercial fishing boat, the Popeye II was first at the scene and the dead and injured aboard.
MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Senate Labor Rackets Committee yesterday accused two Scranton, labor organizations of a "grave disservice" to the city and to the labor movement.
An interim report issued by the committee particularly censured alleged "bullyboy tactics" employed by Teamsters Local 229 and the Scranton Building Trades Council.

Rain, Snow Strikes Again

By The Associated Press
SPRING storms dumped snow on parts of the East and Rocky Mountains area yesterday and rain drenched sections of the East, South and West.
Two inches of snow blanketed Phillipsburg, Pa., and higher elevations in the state expected the fall to reach from three to six inches.

Committee Airs Hoffa As Menace

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Rackets Committee pictured Teamster President James R. Hoffa yesterday as a national menace—a power-hungry master of a hoodlum empire within the huge union.
The committee, in a report to the Senate, said the Teamster Union has pursued a "blatant public-be-damned philosophy" under leadership permeated by "the stench of corruption." It depicted Hoffa as a betrayer of rank-and-file workers.
Former Teamster boss Dave Beck was characterized by the Senate investigators as a miserly man "motivated by an uncontrollable greed." They said Beck is an almost pitiable figure who just couldn't resist the temptation to steal from his union.
Hoffa's elevation to the presidency of this giant among American labor unions was described as "a tragic for the Teamsters Union and dangerous for the country at large."

Senate Votes Limit On Road Debate

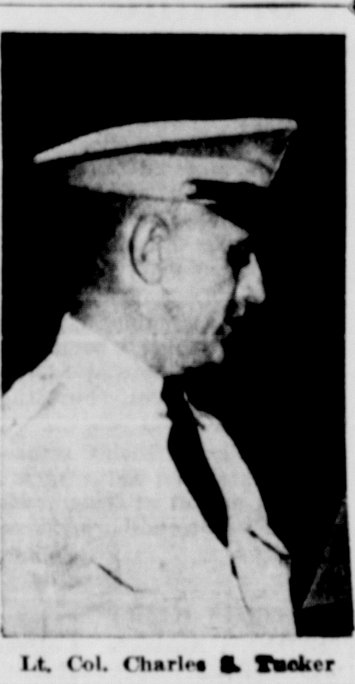

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate agreed yesterday to limit debate on the anti-recession highway bill in a move that should bring a final vote later this week.
Under the agreement worked out by Majority Leader Johnson (D-Tex.) and Republican Leader Knowland of California, the limit on debate will begin soon after the Senate meets at 10 a.m. today.
Debate will be held to four hours on the bill, four hours on a special billboards control amendment and one hour on any other amendment.
If all the time is used, a final vote could come late tomorrow or Friday.
The road-building measure, by increasing and advancing allocations, would make available to the states this year 1 1/2 billion dollars more in federal funds than are presently in the works for the national highway program.
Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.), chief sponsor of the legislation, said he believed his bill could provide 520,000 more jobs this year.

Negotiations Begin In Auto Circles

DETROIT (AP)—With both sides voicing hope for a peaceful settlement, General Motors Corp. and the United Auto Workers Union opened negotiations yesterday on a new labor contract that may set a pattern for industry in a year of recession.
But they began bargaining talks far apart in their declared aims.
Smiling with apparent confidence, UAW President Walter P. Reuther, told newsmen he is "dead serious" in his demand that the big auto companies share profits with workers.
GM has not actually rejected profit-sharing in advance of bargaining but has said it wants no part of such a plan.

Bargaining Team

Heading the GM bargaining team, Louis G. Seaton, vice president for personnel, said the company will attempt to negotiate a long-term contract.
In an unfavorable bargaining position because of mounting unemployment and an over-production of cars, the union is insisting upon a short-term contract.
The negotiations are expected to continue down to the wire of contract expiration at midnight May 29.
Reuther said he planned to appear at the opening of negotiations with Ford Motor Co. next Monday and with Chrysler Corp. the following day.

House Passes Military Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House yesterday passed 366-22 a bill to make military careers more attractive—with a hefty pay raise as the immediate inducement.
The bill's benefits, going to practically all servicemen with more than two years' service, were estimated to cost 668 million dollars a year.

Deep Freeze Figures In Testimony

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—A contractor testified yesterday that he bought a deep freeze for the officer in charge of constructing the Army Signal Corps depot at nearby Tobyhanna.
Joseph Bright of Pittston admitted purchasing and delivering the deep freeze to the depot in testimony at the trial of former Lt. Col. Charles S. Tucker. His firm, John Bright & Sons, held a subcontract for the construction.
Bright said a card with the deep freeze read: "To Charles from Frank, Mike, Joe and Nick."
"Who is Charles?" Bright was asked.
"Col. Tucker," he replied.
Earlier Morris Ockman of Merion, Pa., a government witness invoked the Fifth Amendment in refusing to answer questions about a gift to Tucker.
Tucker, now retired, was resident engineer during construction of the depot in 1952 and 1953.
It was the second time Ockman used the Fifth Amendment since a grand jury probe of irregularities during the depot's construction.
Ockman, secretary-treasurer of the Keystone Cement Co., refused to answer any questions concerning the purchase of a deep freeze by his company for Col. Tucker.

Indictment

The indictment against the colonel charges he accepted a $300 deep freezer. The government charges the gift was accepted with intent to permit it to influence Col. Tucker's judgment as an inspector at Tobyhanna.
Ockman's refusal to answer questions apparently took the government by surprise. Oliver Dible, special assistant to the U.S. attorney general, jumped to his feet and requested Federal Judge John W. Murphy direct the witness to answer.
Judge Murphy declined, saying Ockman was within his rights.
On Jan. 29, 1957, Ockman refused to answer questions before the investigating grand jury. Judge Murphy suggested he return before the panel and clarify his position under advice of counsel. Ockman complied on Feb. 8, 1957.

Farm Price Opposition Declines

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republican opposition to a one-year freeze of farm price supports declined yesterday under the impact of pleas from GOP candidates that a presidential veto would increase their reelection difficulties.
In a surprising shift of sentiment, the Republicans voted 17-14 in a stormy closed session of their party Policy Committee to tell President Eisenhower they hope he lets the freeze bill become law.

Vigorously

At the White House, Press Secretary James C. Hagerty had no comment on the action of the Senate Republicans.

Secretary of Agriculture

Benson has opposed the measure vigorously. Eisenhower has said it represents a 180 degree turn in the wrong direction.

Answer Presented By Caiaphas Becomes Keynote Of Prosecution Throughout Trial

Caiaphas

"Now Caiaphas was he, which gave counsel to the Jews, that it was expedient that one man should die for the people."
—John XVIII:14

By Patrick and Garrison
THIS ANSWER, which the high priest, Caiaphas gave Nicodemus, when the latter sought to defend Jesus, was the keynote of the prosecution throughout.

"What do we? for this man doeth many miracles. If we let him thus alone, all men will believe on him; and the Romans shall come and take away both our place and nation."

The personal animosity, the greed, the hypocrisy which hid behind this a noble motive is apparent only when we study the character and activities of Caiaphas.

In the first place, most of the money changers and merchants Jesus had driven out of the temple had operated their bazaars not only with the high priest's sanction, but were in fact owned by the sons of Annas, the father-in-law of Caiaphas.

Everything that Jesus said and did during His ministry was a blow at both their prestige and their chancell.

Caiaphas was of the sect of Sadducees, who denied that any moral law was of divine authority, save that which had been written. Moreover, they rejected the belief of resurrection after death, and of reward or punishment once a man had died.

Curiously enough, Scripture does not record that Jesus assailed the doctrine and conduct of the Sadducees as often and as bitterly as He did those of the Pharisees.

When Jesus was brought before Caiaphas, the high priest judged Him according to the written law.

"I adjure thee by the living God, that thou tell us whether thou be the Christ, the Son of God?"

And Jesus, who had remained silent up to this point, answered: "Thou hast said; nevertheless I say unto you, hereafter shall ye see the Son of man sitting on the right hand of power, and coming in the clouds of heaven."

Upon hearing this, Caiaphas ripped his clothes (a traditional act), saying: "He hath spoken blasphemy; what further need have we of witnesses?"

Since the ecclesiastical court had no power to pronounce a death sentence, they brought Jesus before Pilate, who did.

150 Attend Annual Party At Wyckoff's

APPROXIMATELY 150 persons last night attended a party for 50-year customers of A. B. Wyckoff Department Store, held in the store's tea room in conjunction with the store's 83rd anniversary.

Seated at the head table were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wyckoff, Holt Wyckoff, store president; John Kerlin, manager; Walter Wyckoff and William Wells.

The elder Wyckoff presented an orchid to Mrs. Wyckoff and Mrs. Marvin Smith, 89, of Ann St., the oldest customer attending.

Bouquet

Mrs. Alta Singer, of 908 Main St., also 89, received a bouquet. All others over 80 attending received a box of candy.

Congratulations from a group of European travelers headed by Mr. and Mrs. Pete Wyckoff were read. The group is currently in Rome.

Wyckoff commended the tea room staff headed by Mrs. Hazel Henning and Elsie Hay and reported more than 5,000 pies were baked for the tea room last year.

Ernie Michelberger played dinner music on the organ during the program.

Serving Armed Forces Big Job For Red Cross Units

ONE OF THE biggest of all Red Cross jobs is serving the armed forces and their families. The local Red Cross, whose fund campaign is now in progress, has an active "home service" department as this service is called.

The majority of local cases come under the counseling in personal and family problems that develop when men go into military service. More than 90 per cent of the monthly caseload in the local headquarters is devoted to active service cases.

In addition, within the past year the local chapter has helped to facilitate three hardship discharges.

At the request of the military, the local chapter contacts the home to confirm the circumstances which compel the service man to request a discharge.

Reporting and communication between the military installations and the home is another important phase of home service. In this connection the local chapter has made 218 long distance telephone calls and sent 151 telegrams of behalf of servicemen or their families.

Financial assistance in emergency for the dependents of servicemen is another facet. The local chapter has made 17 such loans over the past year.

Why Delay Road Bill?

The Senate began debate this week on a major bill to speed the nation's road-building program in line with government efforts to battle the recession. The measure would make available to the states one and a half billion dollars more in federal funds this year than is possible under present law.

The debate was postponed one week when the billboard lobby showed unexpected strength and forced the delay so it could organize a last-ditch drive to defeat the billboard control provisions of the bill.

Sen. Robert S. Kerr, Oklahoma Democrat, is leading the fight against the controls. An oil man, he is often the Senate spokesman for the oil industry, the nation's foremost user of billboard advertising.

With the active support of Sen. Dennis Chavez (D-N. Mex.), chairman of the Public Works Committee, Sen. Kerr managed to obtain additional time for the billboard lobby to pressure senators into voting against the controls.

The battle is over a provision which would give the states a bonus to regulate billboards along the 41,000-mile national superhighway network.

The Kerr action was vigorously opposed by Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson, Texas Democrat, and others—but to no avail. They insisted the billboard issue alone was not enough to justify holding up the anti-recession highway bill.

Sponsored by Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.), the measure provides new financing schedules to meet the increased cost of the road-building program and put it back on its original 13-year schedule.

It merits speedy approval and implementation both as a means of providing work for the unemployed and as an instrument for building the safe, new roads needed to handle the ever-mounting volume of traffic.

No selfish interests, whether it be the billboard or oil industry or a combination of both, should be allowed to stand in the way of early action on this vital legislation.

Opinions Of Other Editors

Encouraging Business

Two major U.S. companies are urging businessmen to stop acting like whipped dogs and step out and encourage business through advertising.

Recession talk has everyone cowering like scared school children. The McGraw-Hill Publishing Co. has taken a full page advertisement in a New York newspaper for its advertising message entitled "The Year Advertising Helped Kill a Business Recession."

The advertisement refers to 1954 when sales in the U.S. fell off 4 per cent, but the publishing company increased its advertising by 5 per cent.

As a result, said McGraw-Hill, business was stimulated and the "recession" turned out to be the mildest on record.

C. K. Woodbridge, chairman of the board of the Dictaphone Corp., has a philosophy similar to McGraw-Hill's.

Said Woodbridge in a letter to his salesmen:

"I like to be classed with that group of business operators who, instead of cutting marketing budgets, reducing advertising expenses, trimming sales perhaps, and becoming over-budget conscious, redouble their selling efforts and increase their marketing expenses through selective selling.

"The most important function in any manufacturing institution is that of selling products. The U.S. is a nation of buyers and suppliers, and you can't make a customer's market by cutting your sales efforts and your marketing budgets..."

Along this line, it is important to know, too, that consumer's cash reserves are in the neighborhood of $25 billion in the nation. There is money available. Business simply has to encourage people to spend through advertising.

Business can be bad, fair, good or excellent in this so-called "recession," depending on the attitude of the businessman.

There is money available. People will spend. But the businessmen have to go out and get the business through advertising their products.

If you wait for something to happen that will change things, you will have a long wait.

Only you can change the picture through your aggressiveness and optimism.

The Pennsylvania Story

GOP Ammunition

By Mason Denison
Harrisburg — Tall-chasing Pennsylvania Democrats, fighting for a dominant place in the Capitol Hill sun for another four years, are concerned whether they really will tear themselves apart before the balloting is over this year.

Faced with a slate scramble in the May 20 primary, particularly on the gubernatorial front, administration and Democratic Party leaders are wondering how far the thing will go.

There is this much about it at the moment:

Erstwhile anti-organization gubernatorial candidate Roy E. Furman, Pennsylvania's current Lieutenant-Governor already has sent Capitol Hill donkey riders into a nervous sweat.

In his fight for the nod, what he has said so far is now a matter of record.

It is a record Democratic chieftains know full well Republicans in the November campaign will be playing back with their own needle.

For example, Mr. Furman has referred to the record of the Leader Administration as "neither impressive nor convincing."

Will Elephant Forget?

Pop-eyed Republican strategists, hardly believing their eyes, have carefully filed that one away in a gold file cabinet—to them a sterling example of the very point they intend to try to hammer across, but backed up by a fellow Democrat of the administration.

Or there is the detailed spell-out by Democrat Furman of his version of high ranking shenanigans among fellow Democrats of the slatemaking elite, who spelled out the slate—minus Furman.

There has been no strategy plan on the part of organization slated candidates for any snipe-bait sessions—not that they wouldn't like to, but the feeling persists that the less said the better.

Answering or countercharges, it is felt, only serve to open wider the wounds insofar as the voting public is concerned—and to underscore the issues.

Actually neither of the organization slates are counting on any extended serious infighting to affect either at the moment.

The big hurdle for each is the November general election toward which most effort is being concentrated.

The candidates of Mr. Furman and Allegheny County Coroner William D. McClelland have not been viewed as posing any serious threat, except to the party's chances this fall, insofar as top Democratic Party brass has been concerned.

The feeling has been rather that in the showdown the disciplinary whip can be cracked fully and effectively by party warlords.

That this can be done has already been illustrated.

George Sokolsky Says...

Logical Approach

Professor Calvin B. Hoover of Duke University hit a bull's eye when he defined co-existence:

"We have become accustomed to thinking of a policy of co-existence with Soviet Russia as the opposite of our present foreign policy. In fact it is paradoxical to present a policy of co-existence as an alternative to our present foreign policy. We have, of course, been coexisting with the Soviet regime for the forty years of its life."

"Indeed we may well ask ourselves how we could possibly have carried on a foreign policy which would have afforded an alternative to co-existence. The historical answer is that the alternative to the co-existence of governments has been annihilation of the one or the other. For almost the first time in history the alternatives to co-existence now include the annihilation of both."

Actually, every people co-exists or even exists without the co, with every other people whether they like it or not unless one of them has been exterminated. And usually even if a country moves from first place to tenth or is conquered by another people in war, the people still exist.

For instance, Poland is now, more or less, a province of Soviet Russia, but the Polish people still exist and with characteristic stiff-neckedness resist total absorption by Soviet Russia as is evidenced by the successful battle which is being waged in that country for the survival of the Roman Catholic Church.

The Russians give a special meaning, however, to the term co-existence. They do not mean that nations or peoples continue to live together in a narrow world. What they do mean is that varying systems of life continue to thrive and grow simultaneously.

Some early Marxists did not believe that possible. It all comes down to the fact that willy-nilly we have to live with the Russians, as unpleasant as it may be. We have had 40 years of the unpleasantness and are, as a matter of fact, learning how.

For one thing, we are learning that it is unnecessary for the Russians to tell the truth or to live up to an agreement or to keep a bargain.

When one knows by long experience that that is the situation, he finds a mechanism for getting along. For instance, this summit conference business.

It is becoming increasingly obvious from statements made by Khrushchev and Bulganin that they do not want any kind of a summit conference. It has been clear to Secretary of State Dulles that the talk about the conference is a hoax and a fraud designed to achieve some other purpose.

The genius of living with the Russians is to be able to discover what the primary purpose is. That is not an easy task.

My own opinion, which I will not too enthusiastically back, is that the primary purpose is to develop a public opinion in Great Britain which will be exceedingly unfavorable to the United States.

Paul set a goal of utter perfection. Paul kept on till he could say, "It is no longer I that live but Christ that dwells in me." And "For me to live is Christ." Tens of millions of saints have aimed at the same goal. In many cases the world has recognized their likeness to Christ.

With Walter Winchell On Broadway

To all editors: The March 19th front page N. Y. Times story about a drug lawsuit (bankruptcy case) reported that we received money from that drug firm to promote a "cure" for arthritis. We were paid by Mutual Net work for which we broadcast news at the time, two years ago...

The story (quoting the officials of the drug company) said they fired us (and that the network dropped us) for opposing the Democratic candidate for President... Nearly all newspaper quotes we read were either misquotes or plain fibs... We had plugged the new "Miracle Drug" as news sponsored the newscast. Our column mentions brought in about $300,000 in orders before the tablets or pills were ready for distribution...

The firm offered us 50 p.c. interest. We rejected it. We used the items as advance news, believing our source, a long-time reliable reporter, formerly on Manhattan newspapers.

Shortly after sponsoring we learned from gov't officials that one of the drug firm execs had been in trouble for mail stock fraud. We confronted him with it and he admitted it. We immediately demanded freedom from the firm as a sponsor—chucking away $6,000 per week... We then attacked the product in print—not all of it making the paper—because our editors feared libel actions... Newsweek (last Satdee) phoned to ask if we had tested the "Miracle" drug before mentioning it. No, we have no arthritis condition... We offered it as news... Following several broadcasts, many letters came in complaining that aspirin was just as good. Authorities (in medicine) told us it was aspirin plus heavy advertising. We also got many letters saying the users got considerable relief... When we learned we had been "used" by stock manipulators (one of whom had gov't trouble), we attacked all concerned... Investors were "taken" for $250,000, the newspapers reported... Instead of being degraded for performing a public service—one mag editor 3rd-degraded us (over the long distance phone) as though we were the defendant instead of the plaintiff... We wondered why they all announced (at the time) that our attacks on Adlai were the reasons for losing sponsorship... Now we learn that many of them are Democrats... But all this happened long before Stevenson was defeated by Ike.

At no time did we call the drug a "cure"... That's against the law... We said the mfrs called it a "relief" and "remedy"... One of the owners told Variety "Winchell must be going crazy. He has attacked us like mad"... Crazy, no doubt, but not too nuts not to know phonies when we are trapped by them.

Why, Mr. Hill, have letters failed to bring response and financial aid? As if you don't already know. About five years ago the airport issue was placed on the ballots and it was then voted a "dead duck". It is permissible to receive the issue, but don't attempt to ram it down the taxpayers' throat.

With two large airports within a short driving distance from Monroe County serviced by major airlines why, yes, why, should the taxpayer spend money on an airport which will be served only by a small feeder line?

I further contend that there would not be enough revenue for the airline so in a short time they would apply to the CAB to discontinue service to the Poconos. Less than a month ago that same airline asked to stop service at Lock Haven, Pa. and Easton, Md. You had the article on the front page of the Record.

What would we do then with the airport? There are fewer than 20 airplanes owned in Monroe County and to maintain an airport for such a few persons would put unnecessary burden on the already overloaded taxpayer.

You state in that editorial that a mistake is made if I ever heard one. Tell the people that is only a starter and each year it would triple.

A Texas auto dealer, whose word I wouldn't doubt, avers that he's just stocked his ranch with 350 head of Cadillac. Also that one of his customers dropped in for a chat, bought a Rolls Royce on an impulse, and took his change in Volkswagens. (Of course, you know where Volkswagens go when they're beginning to fall apart? To the old Volks home.)

There are still a few local farmers left right inside the city limits of Miami. One of them was asked recently, "What's about the easiest thing to raise in these parts, Pop?" He answered* sourly, "Prices."

Monroe County On Shortway Map

Monroe County's Chapter of the Keystone Shortway Assn. will be formed during a meeting at the P. N. Stroud Hotel tonight.

Our county, which stands to gain so much from the Sharon-to-Stroudsburg route, will become a part of the state-wide Shortway organization, Monroe County is one of 27 counties to enter the organization.

Each county will assist in making the state-wide unit a powerful organization, which in turn will speed construction of the 290-mile roadway.

Each county will be asked to contribute a pro-rated share of funds to the state-wide organization, in an effort to guarantee a high quality operation.

Horace G. Heller and Clifford L. Cramer are co-chairmen of tonight's meeting.

This gathering will put Monroe County very much on the Shortway map.

Jim Cooper, one of the area's better known bartenders, is currently a patient at the Graduate Hospital.

The Graduate Hospital is at 19th and Lombard Sts., Philadelphia.

Al Zatezny, 810 Thomas St., Stroudsburg, is a patient at the General Hospital of Monroe County.

Al is recovering from a leg injury.

Mrs. Gilbert Silfee, Tannersville, received a helping hand in putting her house in order after Sunday's fire.

Members of the Pocono Volunteer Fire Co. Auxiliary arrived on the scene Monday to offer what services were deemed necessary.

Douglas Gordon, director of music at Christ Episcopal Church, Stroudsburg, is putting the combined choir of that church through their paces.

This organization will present a Holy Week cantata at Mount Pocono Methodist Church at 3 p.m. Sunday and at 7:30 p.m. the same day at Christ Church.

Elmer J. "Charley" Partlow, 14 W. Broad St., East Stroudsburg, is now a patient at the Graduate Hospital, Philadelphia.

Charley's many friends send their best wishes for a speedy recovery.

Explorer Data Useful

Washington, March 23—The Army's Explorer I is exceeding expectations in producing valuable scientific data.

Example: In its first four days of globe girdling, this pioneer U. S. satellite, supplied more information about outer space than had been previously obtained in 10 years of high altitude soundings with rockets.

This new data is playing a key role in the Air Force's preparations for the first manned flight into space, tentatively set for October.

That historic test will be made in an experimental X-15 rocket plane.

Manned with a pilot, this tiny aircraft will attempt to reach heights of from 100 to 250 miles above the earth. That is now deemed entirely feasible on the basis of scientific data provided by Explorer I.

The outstanding significance of this information is discussed in detail in a special report compiled for two new congressional committees.

One is the Space Committee, which the House recently established under the chairmanship of Majority Floor Leader John McCormack, Mass. The other is the Joint Atomic Space Subcommittee, headed by Senator Clinton Anderson (D-NM). Both groups are getting ready for extensive hearings on this vital subject.

The House Committee is being importantly counseled by former Atomic Commissioner Thomas Murray.

This is the second major committee the New York engineer is now advising.

Last Summer, the Joint Atomic Committee appointed him "chief consultant" after Murray was not given a second term on the AEC. That was attributed to Chairman Lewis Strauss, who had feuded with Murray over policy issues and failing to keep the Commission informed of what was transpiring.

What's Out There—Two factors of prime moment to space flights are stressed in the special report to the McCormack and Anderson committees:

1) Explorer I is indicating that meteors are not a serious obstacle to such flights; (2) cosmic rays, on the other hand, are a cause for concern and much more information is needed regarding them.

Following are publishable highlights from this important study:

"Explorer I has already proved its great usefulness in providing data on cosmic rays, temperature, radio propagation, the shape of the earth, exact location of places, meteor activity, as well as demonstrating the practical application of theoretical principles..."

Particularly, this satellite has greatly increased the amount of knowledge and experience available regarding space flight, and is being of exceptional help in planning the flights of the new X-15.

"Meteors are not expected to be an insurmountable hazard. Those large enough to wreck a space ship are likely to be very rare. Those common enough to hit a ship are apt to be so small they will probably vaporize on hitting the meteor bumper shield. Even if an occasional puncture does occur, sealing the hold should be possible before the ship is seriously threatened."

"The thin cloud of gas which may be common in parts of space is expected to be a problem only at speeds close to that of light."

"Cosmic rays do give cause for concern. But while such radiation is harmful, only on very long flights would exposure be serious enough to be debilitating in an obvious manner. If then, this is an area where much more research is necessary before definite answers are available."

For this specific purpose, a cosmic ray transmitter was added to Explorer II's equipment.

This specially-designed instrument operates only "on command." It is activated by remote control at tracking stations, instead of transmitting constantly as other instruments do.

Still Lagging—Inside reason for those long intervals between Jupiter and Thor tests is dragging production of these still-unperfected intermediate range ballistic missiles. That's what Army and Air Force officials are privately telling congressional leaders. They are saying they still have not been authorized to speed up the output of these IRBMs, which is at the rate of about three each month...

Similarly, the Air Force and Army are complaining that Defense Secretary McElroy has not yet given them the go-ahead for firing a missile to the moon. There have been published reports to that effect, but they are unfounded, according to what Army and Air Force officials are telling congressional authorities. In these backstage talks, the Air Force is claiming it could shoot the moon by June 1, with a 50-50 chance for success. But McElroy is still baring that.

The moon is of vital military importance, and it is of utmost necessity that the U.S. establish a base there. That is the flat conclusion of a report in the hands of the Joint Atomic Space Subcommittee. This study states: "The moon offers incalculable advantages as a military base. With its characteristics of low gravity, almost no atmosphere, and with the same face always turned toward the earth, its bases would have to be destroyed by an aggressor before he could count on victory on earth against the moon base owner. But to attack the moon bases would require several days in flight, and watchers on the moon could take defensive measures before the incoming rockets arrived, or in any case, could launch their own attacks against the aggressor country. This virtually insures a retaliatory capability and limits the use of surprise attacks."

Dictionary Definition Of Teacher Turns Obsolete

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of articles on Monroe County education. Each will be based on the results of the county-wide survey conducted by the author for The Daily Record.)

By Leonard Randolph

WHAT IS THE meaning of the word "teacher?"

Webster's lofty unabridged describes the term as "one who teaches or instructs; especially one whose occupation is to instruct; an instructor; tutor."

In theory, the definition is fine. But Monroe County classroom teachers feel that many school administrators, school boards and parents fail to understand it.

Working in the present "system" of education, teachers feel the definition might be more correct if it read something like this:

"Teacher, n., one who sits with babies, especially those of advanced age; a playground supervisor; a part-time book-keeper; collector of lunch monies from small children; cafeteria supervisor; one who attends meetings devoted to a discussion of teaching during hours which might better be turned over to teaching; a skilled person who is believed by his superiors to be unusually useful in doing routine paper work."

The definition may (or may not) seem humorous to the reader. But to many Monroe County teachers, it is no longer a laughing matter.

When they were asked to give their suggestions on "How to improve education offerings and instruction in all fields?" nearly half of those answering the survey criticized the current practice of "loading the teacher down" with duties which are irrelevant to actual teaching.

But classroom teachers are apparently the only ones who feel strongly that they are being asked to sacrifice education time for the sake of unnecessary details which should, rightly, be handled by others.

Only one administrator mentions the burden of clerical work placed upon teachers. Two East Stroudsburg State Teachers College faculty members condemn the practice vehemently. One answer from a Parent-Teachers Assn. president points it out as a major defect in the present system. It is not even mentioned by school board presidents or secretaries in their answers.

Readers may feel that it is "only natural" for teachers to protest against duties which they consider "outside" the job and obligation they have to genuinely "educate" the child. After all, teachers are directly affected by the practice.

But if the "flaw" does exist, then why is it that other education personnel almost ignore it entirely? Are administrators unconscious of the feeling of their own teachers? Or do they prefer to pass over the complaint as "just another gripe?" Have teachers resigned themselves to a fate of collecting lunch money or "baby sitting" except when they are allowed to discuss them anonymously, as in the current survey? Or is there a failure on the part of teachers to communicate with other areas in the school and the community?

The answer to the final question would seem to be in the positive. Unless administrators, school boards, college professors and parents are deliberately ignoring the load of "extra duties" the teacher is compelled to accept, the teachers themselves have failed to make them understand the problem.

Regardless of responsibility for the misunderstanding, teachers have done their best to put the matter "on the record" in the current survey. Here are a few of their comments, followed by the isolated responses of the small number in other fields who touched on the subject.

—Time spent on "extra" duties such as lunch, playground, clerical work (which should be done by office secretaries) etc. should be spent on preparation for instruction of classes.

—Extra-curricular activities should be reduced to one hour a week.

—We need smaller teacher loads in classrooms and less extra duties. The collection of lunch money, lunchroom supervision, playground work and paper work all take time from teaching day that should be spent on teaching the group or on giving individual guidance to the child.

—Teachers should be allowed to teach their main subjects without so many interruptions for meetings.

—We need to cut down on the amount of extra book work done by teachers. It bears no direct relation to actual teaching.

—Let teachers teach. Assign police, secretarial, baby sitting and other non-professional duties to others. Give the real teachers time to do a first-class job.

The only administrator comment is: "... Clerks and teachers' aides should be employed to reduce the time consumed by teachers on purely clerical activities."

The two State Teachers College faculty comments abolition of "paper work and clerical duties" and "cutting out non-essentials."

Classroom teachers point out that the net effect of assigning "extra" duties to the teacher is dispiriting. It's hard enough to be a good teacher. But it's almost impossible when you're forced by the school board and the administration to spend half your time thinking about the pennies for lunch instead of the subject you're teaching.

County To Form Chapter Of Shortway Association

TONIGHT at 7:30 Monroe County will form its own organization to fight for early construction of the Keystone Shortway—a highway which qualified engineers and industrialists feel will make Pennsylvania the most potent economic force in its area.

Supporters of the Shortway contend that it will provide the logical and most economical connecting link possible between the Eastern states and the areas leading to the Midwest.

Its terminal points will be at Stroudsburg and Sharon. As a major highway it will cross the State completely. It will be the largest single highway construction project in Pennsylvania history and it will be an integral part of the Federal interstate highways network.

But the Shortway's supporters have not been without opposition from other areas of the state. Most of these opponents may be found in the Philadelphia region although some are also politically powerful in the Northern Tier counties which tried, unsuccessfully, to push that area as the route for the Shortway.

Tonight a meeting will be held in the ballroom of the Penn-Stroud Hotel. It is designed to bring about a county organization to serve as part of the Keystone Shortway Assn.

Primary aims of the association are to work for early engineering, bidding and construction of the Shortway. As secondary aims it intends to combat misinformation which has been and is being distributed about the Shortway by its opponents.

Co-chairmen of tonight's meeting will be Clifford L. Cramer and Horace G. Heller. The conference has been arranged by Charles R. Bensinger. The major guest speaker will be Charles E. Noyes, executive director of the Keystone Shortway Assn.

Engineering Department On Overtime

STATE Highways Secretary Stevens was recently authorized during a meeting of the Governor's Executive Board to place 10 men in the engineering department on an overtime basis. It was reported yesterday.

Although it was reported that the men would work extra hours and receive pay for the overtime, it was not disclosed how they are to be used or on what projects.

October Starting

Unofficially, it was said the purpose of the act was to speed plans on the proposed Keystone Shortway for an early October construction starting date.

Running west from Stroudsburg to Sharon on the Ohio State line, the 291-mile, $300,000,000 superhighway caused considerable controversy when first proposed because it will parallel Route 6 in some portions.

The department also has plans for major improvements along Route 6.

Water Plans Complete For Firm

AN OHIO manufacturing company has made arrangements to secure water from the Tru-matic Machine and Tool Co., Inc., during construction of its building—if Stroudsburg's new 10-inch main across Broadheads Creek is not replaced by the time building starts.

Edward C. Hess, engineer for both Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg, said last night he doubts if the situation will arise.

Authority

Hess told the Stroudsburg Municipal Authority Tuesday that recent high water has prevented preliminary work necessary before the 10-inch main—washed out by high water last December—can be replaced. June 1 has been set as the goal for its replacement.

Hess said the Stroudsburg authority will have no trouble providing the firm with its water requirements after the line is replaced.

Tri-Level Housing In More Demand

THE contemporary tri-level is coming into more demand each day, not only because it looks good but also because the layout offers the most comfortable manner of living in a large home.

Split level designs, if they are properly planned, provide privacy for each area of your home with stairs located for most convenient traffic circulation.

The first level has a sizeable vestibule with guest closet, access to the kitchen, stairs to lower level and leads into a huge "L" shaped living-dining area. Living room has dramatic accent in featuring an off-floor level ledge rock fireplace with decorative planter for a nice indoor garden touch plus panoramic window area.

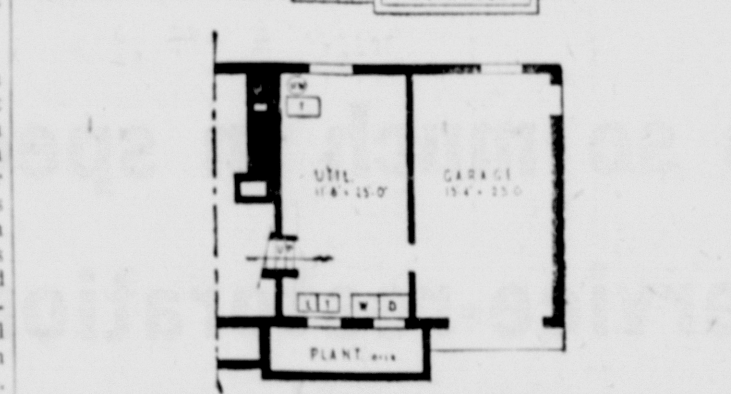

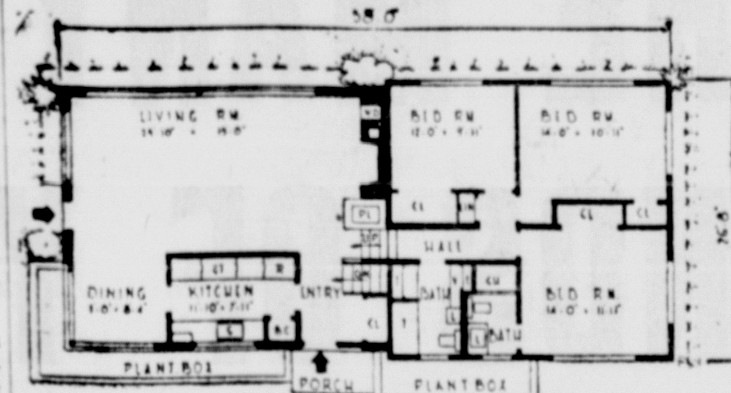

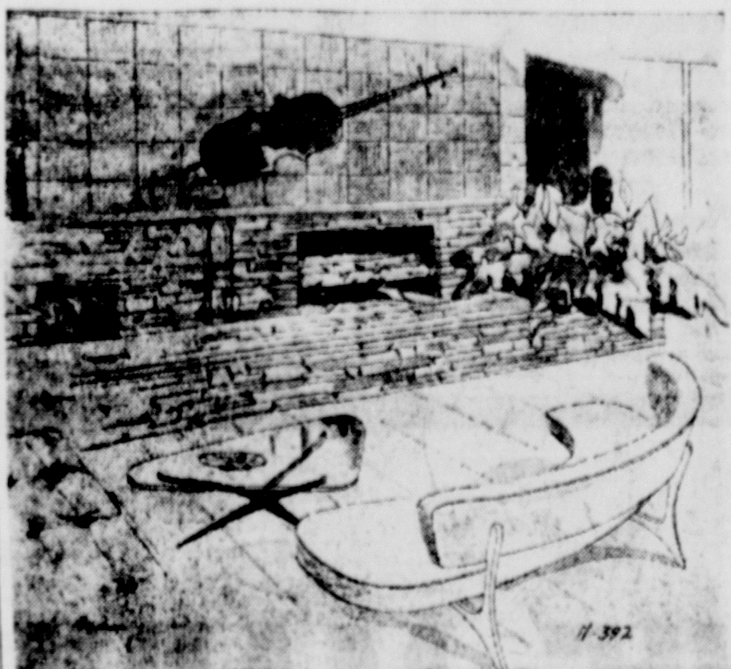

Practically the entire wall area is glassed in, making for a very beautiful living center keyed to contemporary living requirements.

Notice the kitchen which is a compact service hub with popular front location... no lost steps here!

Upper Level
Upper level sleeping area places master bedroom in front corner location with its own bath and still shower and a large wardrobe closet. Rear corner bedroom is almost as large as the master bedroom and even the third bedroom is better than average size and includes an extra size wardrobe closet. Linen closet in hall is convenient to bedrooms. Bath has vanity and towel cabinet.

Excellent window areas throughout entire upper level provides maximum light and ventilation. Lower level is easily accessible and features laundry facilities, with heating unit so located as to allow for a spacious recreation area.

Access to the inside garage is an added convenience. It has a side exit at the far end for easy storage of your garden equipment.

Lovely exterior features wood and brick veneer construction with modern shed roof.

This plan conforms to general FHA, VA and Building Code requirements. Electrical layout is indicated on the blue prints.

Due to the variation in material and labor costs, the estimated construction cost is not given. However, this plan contains 1,496 square feet, 20,375 cubic feet and 367 square feet for the garage. Your builder or material supplier can give you the average cost per square foot in your area.

It's Time To Spruce Up Property

AS NATURE tries at long last to break free from the icy grip of Old Man Winter and prepares to don her fresh new Spring raiment, the homeowner suddenly feels an almost irresistible urge to spruce up his home and grounds.

So universal is this urge, that at this very moment, on every residential street in every city and town across the nation, homeowners are either planning or already launching their own individual Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up and Light-Up programs.

These refurbishing programs will range in scope all the way from a simple "let's-clean-up-the-place" operation to comprehensive attic-to-cellar modernization and remodeling projects.

Indeed, many ideas for the improvement of home and grounds are sparked by routine clean-up operations.

Property Improvements

A man raking the winter's accumulation of debris from his yard is inspired to touch up those bare spaces in his lawn or perhaps put in a new one altogether. This logically leads to thoughts of improving the landscaping with additional shrubs or trees or a colorful flower garden or border.

Often these improvements in the grounds make the home itself appear by contrast somewhat drab and weather-worn, calling out for a fresh coat of paint or even new siding or roofing to complete the picture of a well-groomed property.

A woman, busily engaged in her usual "spring house-cleaning," begins to look at her home with a newly critical eye. Things hitherto taken more or less for granted begin to loom large with new importance. Those scuffs and scars on the living-room floor, for instance, or that too-dark "closed in" look to the dining-room. Suddenly she has the impulse for a complete "change of scene" in this room or that, or maybe throughout the house.

Modernizing Projects

The kitchen or bathroom (or both) also come in for their share of critical re-appraisal at "clean-up" time. Often they are found to leave much to be desired on the counts of appearance or function, and their modernization becomes a moot topic for family discussion and action.

Lighting, too, gets attention now. This is not to be wondered at, as four out of five existing houses are said to be inadequately lighted.

Duck Inn Popular For Easter

EASTER is a festive time, especially for families with children.

You can make this Easter a really memorable one by building this colorful Duck Inn.

The pattern offered below simplifies building an indoor Duck House, complete with a dishpan swimming pool. Use sand, or one of the chemically treated disinfectants available at most pet shops and you won't be troubled with any odor.

Since baby ducks are as much a part of Easter as Santa Claus is of Christmas, you'll find this Duck House the talk of the neighborhood. Children will spend many happy hours watching the duck swim in the pool and preening themselves on the sandy beach.

Panelboard

The house built from weatherproof panelboard, may be placed out of doors when ducks are grown. Directions explain how to cut out a door, which in turn serves as a ramp.

The pattern contains complete directions for not only building and decorating the Duck Inn but also includes helpful hints on raising baby ducks.

For after Easter, Duck Inn converts to ideal Storage Chest for youngster's toys. A combination project that will delight the youngsters at Eastertime and do double duty as an attractive and useful storage unit the year 'round.

Send 50 cents in coin or money order (no stamps please) for Pattern No. 725 Duck Inn; send 35 cents additional for 64 page catalog illustrating over 300 other build it yourself projects to The Daily Record P.O. Box 215, Pleasantville, N.Y. Add 10 cents if payment is made by check.

Punch Holes In Groove

PAINT caking on the rims around paint cans makes it difficult to replace their lids properly.

Solve this problem by punching small holes with a hammer and nail in the bottom of the groove that runs around the rims of paint cans.

Paint Ingredients

EXTERIOR house paint is made of pigment, an oil binder and drier, plus a thinner to make the paint brushable.

Sharpening Trick

TAKE A TIP from the old-timers. Before sharpening dull saws, first smoke the teeth by passing the blade through a candle flame. This makes it easy to see where the file is cutting.

Loosen Old Dirt

BOILING OLD oilstones which have been clogged with dirt in a shallow pan of water will quickly loosen up the old dirt.

Safety On Stairways

INEXPENSIVE improvements can transform a basement stairway into a safe, attractive area with storage facilities.

Children can easily suffer serious injury when playing on an open stairway, but a panel of Masonite "Peg-Board" can block off this open area and provide an attractive backing for hanging pictures, plants, toys, clothes or small tools.

The perforated hardboard panel can be cut to the desired size and shape, primed and painted, before it is suspended by a plastic clothesline woven through the holes and strategically located screw-eyes.

Apply Shellac To Wallpaper

IT IS a good idea to apply a thin coating of white shellac to a wallpaper, particularly in the nursery.

A shellac finish will leave the colors of the paper unchanged and will render the paper spot-proof and washable with a damp cloth.

Handy Tool Trays

A SIMPLE way to prevent tools and hardware from rolling off the top platforms of household stepladders is to convert the platforms into handy tool trays by nailing strips of quarter round molding around the top edges.

Prevent Sticking

PREVENT screw top lids from sticking on jars of glue or shellac this easy way. After the lid is removed for the first time, coat the inside of the threads with a little petroleum jelly.

Do It... They Know How!

Kranendonk To Appear At School Concert

By Numa Snyder

"A PREREQUISITE to being a good vocalist is primarily to be a good musician."

Fittingly, the man who made this statement is a remarkable example of that combination. He is Leonard Kranendonk.

He has been a member of the Fred Waring organization for over 20 years, both as baritone soloist and member of the chorus. He has accepted the invitation extended by our school to be guest soloist at the Stroud Union High School Spring Choral Concert on Friday at 8 p. m. It will be held in the auditorium of the Stroud Union High School.

Leonard Kranendonk

Sunrise Service At Mt. Bethel

PORTLAND—The second annual Easter sunrise service of the Portland Methodist Church will be held at 6:30 a. m., April 6, on the summit of the hills south of Mount Bethel, where the service was held last Easter.

The service will be sponsored by the Young Adult Fellowship of the Portland Methodist Church and the Portland Methodist Ministerium.

Rev. Lawrence Monk, pastor of the church, will deliver the message, "Why We Are Here." Rev. David Edwards, pastor of the Portland Presbyterian Church, will lead in prayer.

Soloist

Mrs. Robert Barton of Portland will be the soloist, accompanied by Rev. Monk, Jackie Court, Kay Ribble, and Rusty Reimer of Portland will accompany the hymn singing.

Following the sunrise service, an Easter breakfast will be served at the Portland Methodist Church at 7:30.

A 75 cent donation is requested, and reservations for the breakfast may be made by calling Mrs. Shirley Delp while tickets last, and no later than Sunday.

A short communion service will be held around the breakfast table following the morning meal for those who wish to remain. In the event of unseasonable weather, the service will be held at the church.

Late Slump Halts High Stock Market

NEW YORK—The stock market yesterday shied away from a chance to top its 1958 peak. Prices declined as trading fell off somewhat.

Coppers, which have made '58 highs of their own in recent sessions, fell victim to profit taking. Oils staged a late rally but then lost strength and net gains for the group were mediocre.

Other key stocks, except for scattered issues showed moderate declines. Utilities nudged ahead to a new 1958 high on average.

The Associated Press average of 50 stocks dropped 90 cents to $163.70. The 1958 high for the AP 50-stock average is $165.00. In the AP average the industrial component fell $1.70, and the rails $1.00 while the utilities rose 10 cents.

Most Active

Martin Co. was the most active stock, up 1 at 34 1/2 on 35,000 shares. Second was Lorillard, off 1 1/4 at 50 1/2 on 29,000 shares. Third was American Cyanamid, up 1 1/4 at 45 1/2 on 28,600 shares.

Next came Texas Gulf Sulphur, up 1/4 at 19, and Getty Oil, up 1/4 at 26 1/2.

Fractional gains were held at the close by Kerr-McGee, Amerasia, Sinclair and Standard Oil (New Jersey). Gulf Oil, which leaped 2 1/2 Monday, was off 1 1/4. Losses of around a point or more were taken by Anaconda, Kennecott, Phelps Dodge, Magna Copper, American Smelting and International Nickel.

Lorillard dropped 1 1/2 and Polaroid 1 1/2 as these recent favorites were hit by more profit taking. Rails backed down as 1958 earnings for eastern carriers were reported much worse than for the same period in the depression year of 1932. Illinois Central receded 1 1/2 while other leading rails lost fractions mostly.

American Stock Exchange prices were mixed on volume of 600,000 shares compared with 690,000 Monday. Corporate bonds were higher in quiet trading and U.S. Government bonds rose.

Kranendonk will represent Fred Waring's Pennsylvanians, an outstanding performing group in keeping with the theme of this year's concert, "Music of Pennsylvania."

Leonard Kranendonk is familiar to music lovers of the Stroudsburg area, being in popular demand as a soloist in many of the local churches. He is also known as a property owner in Monroe County, owning his own farm in the Shawnee district where he spends his Summers keeping in the mental and physical condition necessary for the busy life of a television, stage, recital and recording artist.

In fact, several years ago, a choice had to be made between being a successful farmer (growing tomatoes for the tomato cocktail business) or a successful musician. Fortunately, for us and the music world in general, he returned to "gentleman" farming. This gave him the time he wanted to devote toward his primary interest—music, particularly the performing aspects of it.

Although so much of his life has been associated with the Waring organization, Kranendonk has done recital work as well as some private teaching.

His feelings about voice training are quite different from those of most voice teachers in that he feels that choral work is one of the most advantageous ways to study voice.

"For a capable choral director can teach good acceptable tone quality, and shading which are helpful toward the development of the voice. He can also recommend ideas for solo presentation and interpretation," Kranendonk says.

Having worked under the leadership of such outstanding choral men as Fred Waring, Robert Shaw, Lara Hoggard, Don Craig and Jack Best, his opinion is based on a lifetime of experience.

The Kranendonks are from Wisconsin where Leonard attended the Wisconsin College of Music and where his family of three children was raised. The best-known to Stroudsburg audiences is Robert, currently a member of the staff at Shawnee Press and a performer in his own right. He has also been a member of Fred Waring's Pennsylvanians for five years.

During the Friday night concert, Leonard Kranendonk will do a group of three numbers. Included will be "The Hills of Home" by Oscar Fox; "A Spirit Flower" by Campbell-Tipton and "Countin' My Blessings" by Tom Waring.

For the final number on the program he will sing "Journey's End" by Fay Foster with the high school mixed chorus.

Sentenced On Disorderly Count

HARRY A. MILLER, of 999 Drake Lane, Stroud Township, was released from Monroe County jail yesterday after a one-day sentence on drunk and disorderly charges.

Peace Justice Marshall Neyhart, of East Stroudsburg, imposed the sentence in lieu of a fine of $25 and costs. Miller was arrested by State Police of the local barracks upon complaint of his wife, Ruth.

Four Firms Differ On Reports

REPORTS released by four firms this week showed two making a profit, one reporting a loss and another announced plans for expansion.

Glen Alden Corp. reported a loss for 1957 and List Industries Corp. reported a profit. Additional details of a plan whereby Glen Alden will acquire the assets of List were announced.

Glen Alden said consolidated operations for 1957 resulted in a net loss of $2,869,314 before a special charge amounting to $625,000. During 1956, the company had a net income of $1,613,446 equal to 91 cents a share.

List Industries reported a consolidated net income of $2,037,769 equal to 48 cents a share before a special item. Income after the special item amounted to $1,540,461 or 37 cents a share. For 1956, the company reported net income of $1,595,004 or 37 cents a share before a special item and a net income of $4,502,013 or $1.04 a share after it.

Proxy Statements

F. O. Case, Glen Alden president, and Albert A. List, board chairman and president of List, reported proxy statements have been sent to stockholders of each recommending approval of transfer of List's assets to Glen Alden. Shareholders will vote on the proposal at separate meetings April 11.

George J. Binder, treasurer of Wilson and Co., said preliminary figures for the first four months of the year which began last Oct. 27 were better than those in fiscal 1957.

For the six months ended April 27 of last year, Wilson reported net of $1 a common share on sales of $313,700,000.

Sun Oil Co. has allocated $80,000,000 for capital improvements and expansion this year and will spend an additional $40,000,000 to develop crude oil and natural gas reserves.

The $120,000,000 will be the third highest in Sun's history. The firm's 1957 earnings declined to $47,492,584, or $4.17 a share, compared with a 1956 net of $56,160,053 or $5.22 a share on fewer shares.

Three Local Women In ESSTC Play

THREE MONROE County young women are taking part in the forthcoming East Stroudsburg State Teachers College production of "The Great Big Doorstep."

They are: Patricia Manley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Manley, Broadhead Ave., East Stroudsburg; Connie Burrus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Burrus, Normal St., East Stroudsburg and Barbara Cyr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cyr, Portland. Both Patricia and Connie are in fifth grade at the campus laboratory school.

Director

"The Great Big Doorstep" will be presented under the direction of Ralph Smith. He is to be assisted by Linda Wolfe, Jonestown, student director and Bernard Koloski, Hellertown, stage manager.

The production is slated for two performances on April 17 and 18. Others in the cast are: Leon Alexander, Philadelphia; Genya Chaplinsky, Clifton Heights; Barbara Cook, Brown's Mills, N. J.; Howard Haiges, Philadelphia; Patricia Horinko, Palmerton; Ray Kressler, Bangor; Edson Lott, Radnor; Saul Rosenberg, Easton and Joan Schneider, Langhorne.

Water Gap Firemen To Hold Supper

DELAWARE WATER GAP—Delaware Water Gap firemen have set April 26 as the date for the benefit spaghetti supper they will sponsor at the fire house. Service will begin at 5:30 p.m.

Philip Farber will preside as chef and Fred Decker will serve as co-chairman. Workers on the committee are William Kitchen, James Anthony, William Widdows, Charles Dutt, Russell Shellenberger, Harold Lightner and William Snow.

Auxiliary

Members of the Fire Auxiliary will serve the supper. They will also canvass the community to solicit patrons whose names will be listed on the menus, along with advertisements from business places. Anyone wishing to make contributions of money may do so by addressing the "Fire Company Dinner Committee."

Persons attending the affair are invited to see the room in the fire hall which the firemen redecored. Drapes for the windows were given by the Women's Auxiliary.

Rev. Wray Retires In Bangor

BANGOR—Rev. Henry C. Wray has announced his resignation as pastor of the Mackey Memorial Baptist Church, effective April 5.

In his letter of resignation, Rev. Wray cited ill health as the reason. As pastor of the church since March of 1952, he has been in failing health since early last December.

Long Service

Upon his retirement, Rev. Wray will have served more than 40 years in the Baptist ministry. Reportedly, he and Mrs. Wray have made plans to reside with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stahl, of Williamsport.

In Williamsport, Rev. Wray will do supply work. Earlier, he had served as pastor of the East End Baptist Church in that city for some 21 years.

During his service here, he has been active in community affairs and has seen the renovation of the church. Final dedication services were held last night.

Portland Man Succumbs In Hospital

PORTLAND—Losey B. Van Etten, a 66-year-old carpenter, died early Tuesday morning at the Monroe County General Hospital, East Stroudsburg.

Born in Flatbrookville, N. J., he was a son of the late William and Susan Losey Van Etten. His wife, the former Lola Garrison, died some nine years ago.

American Legion

A World War One veteran, he was a member of Emllyn H. Evans Post 379, American Legion, Bangor. He was of the Methodist faith.

Surviving are two step-daughters, Miss Jessie Savercool, of Portland, and Mrs. Charles Silker, of Blainstown; and a brother, Russell, of Newton, N. J.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. today at the Horton funeral home, Johnsonville.

Saylorsburg Native Dies In Florida

SAYLORSBURG—Mrs. Janet Schoch Haines, a 67-year-old Saylorsburg native, died at her home at Ormond Beach by the Sea, Fla., last Saturday. She was the wife of Samuel B. Haines.

Born here, a daughter of the late Joseph and Catherine Smith Schoch, she resided in nearby Bangor until her marriage and later moved to Philadelphia.

Five Years

She had lived at Ormond Beach by the Sea for the last five years. Funeral services will be held there today.

Her only survivor is her husband. A niece, Mrs. David Fox, resides in East Bangor, and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Walter Pritchard, resides in Bangor.

Tavern Group To Meet

A SPECIAL meeting of the Monroe County Tavern Assn. has been called for Friday at 2 p. m. at Gap View Inn.

James Holder, state president, will lead a discussion on bills to be introduced at the next session of the Legislature. There will be a general discussion on minimum wages prescribed for women and minors in the restaurant and hotel industries.

Questions

George Livingston, regional sanitarian for the State Health Department, will answer questions relating to restaurant sanitation and glass washing procedure.

All licensees are invited to attend the meeting.

Registration Deadline

DEADLINE for voter registration is Monday, March 31 at 9 p. m.

To take care of registrations, the office of Monroe County Commissioners will have clerks working at these times on the following days:

Friday, March 28 from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.; Saturday, March 29, from 9 a. m. to noon; Monday, March 31 from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.

Play On Friday

KRESGEVILLE—The Polk High School Senior Class Play, postponed three times, will be presented to the public in the school auditorium on Friday at 8 p. m. under the direction of Miss Marjane Everett. The school band will play several numbers between acts.

THE REI CARPET IS OUT TODAY FOR YOU

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

You never know who's going to read what nor what about it they may object to. Certainly in running the story about a Polish Easter buffet, I expected it to be read by the housewives, who might very well object if a recipe came out wrong.

But I was a little surprised to have a phone call from a man about the article and his objection that on a traditional Polish Easter table you never in this world would have turkey—or any kind of poultry. You'd have ham, and Polish sausage, which is called (wait a minute, Mr. Stanky spelled it for me) kielbasa, that's what.

Anyway, I was so pleased to have a man reading Family Fare that I didn't mind his objecting at all. In fact I can always learn something—like not having turkey on a Polish buffet.

Now what I want to know is how you make this Schlamunk you're going to eat at the Newfoundland Moravian Church.

I'd also like some assurance that the Cassandras who've been predicting another snow storm this week will be wrong. Things get just too complicated with all the switching of social events. Besides there's the chorus concert at Stroud Union, and the Garden Club trying for a third time to meet, and the Eastern Star changing date and place of their penny supper.

If we had to start all over again, I think I'd give up. The only trouble about giving up is what to do next. Anyway keep your fingers crossed. Today's the day I want to get the car unstuck!

Final Mid-Week Lenten Service

The final mid-week Lenten service before Holy Week will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg, with Pastor Wunder preaching on the theme, "Odd Companions". The catechetical class will worship together for the last time before their Confirmation on Palm Sunday at 11 a. m.

Kenneth Heckman, Benjamin Smith, Bernard Jones and J. Russell Lamberson will serve as ushers and John Baird will be acolyte. Miss Doris Salathe will sing an alto solo, "He Was Despised" by Handel with Miss Leila Bunnell presiding at the console. The chancel choir will lead in the singing of the Lenten hymnody with Carroll All, directing.

Circle 6 Thursday

Circle 6 of the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church will meet at the home of Mrs. Pearly Hunt, Brookside Ave., on Thursday night.

Happiness And Success Are Up To Ourselves

By Anne Heywood

A great deal of my mail comes from mothers who deplore the fact that they are tied down so much with the children that they cannot accomplish anything.

"When the children are grown..." or "As soon as my responsibilities to the children taper off..." is a recurring refrain.

That is why it was such a refreshing novelty to get the following letter from Mrs. Shirley Schwartz of New Jersey:

"I have a very interesting home project in the ceramics field and I owe it all to my daughter, Jacqueline.

Learned to Enamel

"During the summer season of 1957, my daughter, now 13, joined a day camp and learned, among other things, the hobby of enameling copper. Seeing her keen interest, my husband, Murray, and I gave her a small kiln on her birthday.

"She was thrilled, and her enthusiasm was so contagious that I simply had to yield to her request to watch her working. Of course I wanted to, but my two boys, 2 and 4, left little time for the luxury of a hobby."

Created Many Designs

Mrs. Schwartz goes on to say that, once she had become interested, there was no stopping her. She went to work seriously and began to produce all kinds of items such as cuff links, earrings, belts, bracelets, ash trays and such.

She continues:

"A good friend of mine said she would like to take a few samples of my work to the church Fair committee. I was delighted. I ended up with a booth at the Fair where approximately 150 pieces of my work

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Shoemaker of Mount Bethel announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Lois E. Shoemaker, to Ralph C. Predmore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Predmore of Mount Bethel.

Miss Shoemaker is employed at Shoemaker Orchards. Mr. Predmore is employed on the farm of Charles H. Anderson.

Garden Club Meeting On Thursday

The Monroe County Garden Club will try it again. The March meeting will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. at the YMCA in Stroudsburg. Dr. Madelon Powers will speak on "Japanese Flower Arrangements." Dr. Powers spent a year in Japan and studied flower arrangement at school there.

The program was originally scheduled for last Thursday but postponed because of the storm. The club's February meeting was also a storm casualty.

Film For Grange Meeting Thurs.

Cherry Valley — The Cherry Valley Grange will meet Thursday night at 8:15 at Stormville. The program will feature a movie "4-H Headlines" made by the Farm Film Foundation will be shown.

Any others interested in seeing the movie are invited to join the members for the meeting.

Degree Team Meeting

Degree team of the Ladies Independent Order of Reindeer will be held on Wednesday night at the home of Dorothy Vogt, Lincoln Ave., East Stroudsburg, at 8 p. m.

Her Daughter Showed Her How To Enamel Copper.

One woman will find a household of children a perfect excuse for being cranky, unattractive and complaining that life has nothing to offer.

Another woman, with the same kind of house, and the same number of children, will find those circumstances the stimulus to an attractive and glowing personality and a life filled with accomplishment.

It seems to be entirely up to us. Perhaps a good first step would be to stop deploring the external and get to work on ourselves.

Families Present Church Song Service

Tannersville — A large audience took part in the Family Night music service at the Tannersville Methodist Church, one of a series held this year under the direction of Mrs. Horace E. Werkheiser, church organist.

Walter Sebring led the song service, and announced the program which featured family groups. Verdon Frailey led the devotions.

Special numbers included: "Near the Cross" sung by the Charlie Stout family with Mrs. Stout as accompanist; duet, "My Cathedral" by Bonnie Kay and Nancy Bessecker with Mrs. Charles Bessecker at the organ; song "With My Saviour Through the Shadow," Mrs. Russell Price and children; saxophone solo, "The Holy City" by John Frailey with his sister, Elizabeth as his accompanist.

Duet "How Great Thou Art" by Sylvia Jean Grantham and Ruth Ann Rustine, accompanied by Mrs. Werkheiser; duet "Alone" by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Roberts; solo "Somebody Bigger Than You," Elizabeth Frailey; duet "In the Garden With Jesus," Clifford Werkheiser and son, James, accompanied by daughter, Joan; solo, "Open the Gates of the Temple," Walter Sebring; duet, "Kneel at the Cross" by Horace and Sylvia Werkheiser, with Horace playing the guitar accompaniment.

Rev. LeRoy Bernard spoke briefly and the offering was taken by Albert Bessecker and his son, Carl Bessecker.

Republican Council Hits New High

Mt. Pocono — Highlight of the March meeting of the Pocono Mountain Council of Republican Women was an announcement by Miss Eloise Bryan, president, that the group had grown from a small nucleus of 21 in 1947 to a present membership which has soared to 105. The meeting was held in the Laurel Room of Pocono Manor Inn.

A Spring-motif luncheon preceded the regular business meeting. A special vote of appreciation was given to John M. Crandall, manager of the hotel.

Miss Bryan urged even greater membership by stating that all women interested in joining the Pocono Council will be welcome.

The group voted on committees for the coming year and new chairmen were appointed. They are: Mrs. Mildred Schutt and Mrs. Henry Cruse, telephone committee, and Mrs. Gray Carpenter and Mrs. Theodore Beadle, publicity chairman. Two new members were also introduced. They were Mrs. R. Donaldson and Mrs. William Quinn.

Plans were made for the June picnic which will be held at the home of Miss Eloise Bryan, in Swiftwater.

In addition to the regular meeting, a brief talk was given to the group by John Nauman of Barrett Township.

Among others attending the meeting were: Mrs. Walter Coffman, Miss Letitia Colhoun, Miss Ann Dudevick, Mrs. Halstead Ellison, Miss Lulu Fannesteen, Mrs. M. Fonty Fontanella, Mrs. Louis Ingersoll, Mrs. David Neison, Mrs. Harry Neiring, Mrs. Claire Specht, Mrs. Ella Fikentscher, Mrs. John McHale, Mrs. William Seeley, Mrs. Clair Witt, Mrs. Ada Willard, Mrs. Stanley Nauman.

Clubwomen Of County To Hold Spring Meeting At Community House April 15

The Monroe County Federation of Women's Clubs will hold its Spring meeting on April 15 at the Stroud Community House in Stroudsburg with the Women's Club of the Stroudsburgs as hostess to the clubs of the entire county.

Plans for the Spring meeting were discussed at the board meeting held at the home of County President, Mrs. Claude W. Leister, on Foxtown Hill this week.

This year will be a day-time meeting beginning with registration at 9:30 a. m., a meeting at 10 a. m. and a luncheon, served at the club house. The state president, Mrs. Woodrow Matern, will be the main speaker.

One feature of the meeting will be a tour of the Museums conducted by the curator, Mrs. Horace Walters. Mrs. George Trexler, northeastern vice president, will also speak.

Gifts To Community

At the board meeting, reports from the member clubs showed that over the past year, the clubs have contributed a total of $2,806.72 to community welfare projects. This total does not include the money which the clubs have collected in community drives, but only the money which clubs themselves have given for the various projects.

Mrs. J. Frank Grimm, county international relations chairman, announced a state International Relations Study Workshop to be held at Pennsylvania State University the end of July. She also announced that Mrs. Samuel O. Wells, III, president of the Stroudsburg Club had been invited to serve as a member of the panel. All clubs in the state are invited to send delegates to the workshop. After the meeting, Mrs. Leister served cake and coffee to board members.

County PTA Council Meets At Mt. Pocono School

THE MONROE COUNTY Council of Parents and Teachers at their meeting at Mount Pocono school on Monday night heard a report on the activities sponsored by other PTA council from Mrs. Thelma Black.

Inviting service organizations to their meetings, maintaining a booth at the county fair were among the means by which they kept the public informed on educational matters. Sponsoring adult education, campaigns against indecent literature, special work, and surveys of school set-ups were among other activities.

Amplifying on the school surveys, Walter Melnikoff presented a questionnaire put out by the Meadville schools, which has been adapted by the Barrett PTA for their school district.

Mrs. Lester Katz presided at the meeting with about 50 representatives of local PTA units present. Named to the nominating committee were Mrs. David Nelson, Paradise; Mrs. Elwood German, Clearview; Mrs. Lillian Zepel, Mount Pocono; Walter Melnikoff, Barrett; and Willard Webster, Pocono.

Reports were given on matters important to education which will come up before the state legislature this year. Mrs. Mary Gearhart reported on the visit which the council paid to Tobyhanna to help reorganize a Coalingham Twp. PTA at the request of the principal.

The program featured two films on a safety, "How a Safety Patrol Operates" and "The Safest Way Home," presented by Edwin Buck.

A Year of Study Aboard No Longer Limited To Monied

By Dorothy V. Whipple, M.D.

Did it ever occur to you that your growing-up son or daughter might study abroad for a year? Perhaps if the idea did occur to you, you would have brushed it aside as one of those things only possible to the moneyed class to which you definitely do not belong. But that's where you are wrong.

Last year there were approximately 126,000 students studying in countries other than their own and of these 74,000 were being partly or wholly subsidized by a scholarship or a fellowship. If so many young people can do it why not one of yours?

A year spent in another country can be a tremendous experience for any youngster. The value is not only in the actual studies pursued but in coming to understand another country, in living as one of them, in learning to feel as they feel. After such a year the student's attitude toward "foreigners" is forever changed.

Under the skin we are all human beings. We work and play, love and hate, strive for a better life or give up in despair pretty much the same whether we do it in the U.S.A. or in Timbuctoo. Knowing this because it is part of you is one of the things this old world of ours needs if we are ever to achieve that dreamed of world peace. Governments can fight over frontiers, over imports and exports, over who's going to run the canal, but when the people of the world truly know each other it will be much harder to whip up any country into a war hatred of another.

How To Begin

Since World War II there has been a great increase in exchange students throughout the world. The United Nations has compiled a book called "Study Abroad" in which all the various

Music Parents Sponsor Parties After Concerts

The Stroud Music Parents had a busy meeting on Monday night at the school, preparing for the chorus concert this Friday night and the district band festival in April.

There are still a few season tickets left, the committee reported, for those who wish to buy them before the chorus concert. Following the concert there will be a party for chorus members and their friends, sponsored by the Music Parents with Mrs. Harry LaBar.

The Music Parents are also in charge of securing homes for the district bandmen who will arrive on April 17. Mrs. Arthur Ifft reported that her committee had secured 95 homes in the community which will take care of all the visiting musicians. Mrs. William Roeder, Mrs. Edward Steinhauer and Mrs. Robert Schell are on the committee.

The Music Parents will also serve as chaperones for the dance to be held for district band members on Friday night. The concert is scheduled for Saturday.

Kresgeville — The president of the Auxiliary to the S.U.V.C.W. Camp 58, Mrs. Alveta Strohl, announced that the bimonthly meeting would be held on Thursday at 8 p. m. instead of on the regular meeting night March 28.

The Wyckoff Shopper

Sometimes just an offbeat color... a bit of fragrance wafted on the draft from a swinging door... a snatch of song heard as you pass a record store... can make you glad to be alive. That's the way I react to the beams of light that shimmer through the display of glassware newly arrived in our gift department.

My favorite pieces of this glass are not large. As a matter of fact, they are quite small. But they are golden amber... or brilliant blue... and they are mottled with milky white. One tiny cruet might hold vinegar... or perfume... or nothing at all but loveliness. And I can stand there the better part of my fifteen minute coffee break and marvel that anything so simple and inexpensive can be so exciting and lovely.

Across the aisle is another assortment of glass which does not have quite the same fascination for me, but which is unusual and worth mentioning. This table holds brilliant sapphire blue and amethyst copies of early American dishes, salt and pepper shakers, candle holders, and such. Amethyst glass is not easy to find in good copies, I am told—and these pieces would please a collector of this colored ware, I am sure.

If you enjoy looking at the world through rose colored glasses, I might suggest that you try looking at it through amber... sapphire... or amethyst. Any WAY you look at it, a bit of color is all this old world needs to camouflage the rough spots, cover up the dirt streaks, and turn it into the kind of a place its Creator probably meant it to be.

"Zuid-Holland" and "Gouda-Holland" read the labels on the bottom of some unusual pottery articles that are creating interest in our gift department. Sleek as polished wood and black as ebony, these ash trays and little dishes are actually made in the form of moulds—featuring an elephant, a ram, or a rabbit. A few are in green, but the black are much more striking. Interesting conversation pieces as well as practical accessories, they are priced at just 89c and 1.19.

Adding additional flavor to our Cosmopolitan Potpourri, are some delightful ash trays from Norway. They have a dull, mat finish, that is very smart indeed. They have size too—they're bigger than big, but are so designed they have no appearance of great weight or clumsiness. The bright flowers are colorful and in perfect taste, and prices range from 2.98 to 5.98. No "batts" about it—these are stunning!

Now that Spring is definitely with us and June is only a few hundred roses away, I'm becoming increasingly excited over the showing of Fashions from Israeli on Tuesday, June 17, at lovely Taminin in Bushkill. Sponsored by the local Hadassah, this promises to be one of the summer's most unusual attractions. Why not plan to attend?... Truly distinctive handwriting in the thank-you note from the YMCA Auxiliary, for publicity given the recent Fashion Show and Card Party. Wonder whose script it was. I wish I could write that way!... Cute note too from Harry Albert, on an E A Bell blotter, signed Great Grand-Daddy, while from Florida comes a beautiful reproduction of Carlo Dolci's "Blue Madonna" posted by Mrs. Ashton Burrows who says she's enjoyed her vacation but will be glad indeed to see Stroudsburg again... And by the way, when you're in the store next time, see the magnificent selection of toys in our Toy Store. Some are priced as low as 8c, but others—! Well, Ernie Michelfelder just wandered in carrying three delightful animals—a lion, a monkey, and a dog, by Steiff, each priced at 26.50. For just a few dollars more, a woman could have MINK on her arm—but Steiff toys are as superb in their way as mink, and probably wear longer!

Amateur Night Set For Readers

Readers — Elaborate plans are being made for an Amateur Night to be held on April 18 at 7:30 at the Jackson Twp. School in Readers. Anyone with musical or dancing talent, of any age, is invited to participate in the show. There is no entry fee and first, second and third prizes will be awarded.

The show is being planned by the hot lunch committee of the school and anyone interested in taking part may call Mrs. William Woodling, 3919-J-3 or Mrs. Paul Mager, 1452-R-3 or simply drop a post card to Amateur Night, Readers, giving their name, address, and the talent they wish to demonstrate.

A small fee will be charged spectators, but children under six will be admitted free. Refreshments will be sold.

Fly-Ups Begin Tenderfoot Training

Newfoundland — "Fly-ups," Bliss Arneberg, Gloria Bartleson, Penny Gilpin, Connie Keiter, Pamela Eggert, Karen Smith, Inger Madsen and Terry Voeste this week began work on their tenderfoot requirements for Girl Scouting under the direction of Mrs. Melva Parsons. The girls, members of Brownie Troop Two, will go into Laurel Troop in the Fall.

Guest books, scrapbooks, and photograph albums "of their very own" were begun by the little girls at their meeting under the leadership of Mrs. Ethel Wohlfart, Mrs. Parsons and Lucille Ketz. Brownies in charge of the three projects are Melissa Burdick, guest book; Shirley Stevens, scrapbook; and Joyce McLain, photograph album. Mrs. Parsons has been taking pictures of all of the activities of the new troop and these will make up the collection of the album.

Games were played by the group and refreshments served. A singing session is planned for next week.

Field Thins In Race For Governor

HARRISBURG — Two candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination have withdrawn their names, leaving three candidates to contest for the nomination at the May 20 primary.

Withdrawing were Allegheny County Coroner William D. McClelland, who came within 65,000 votes of winning the nomination in 1954, and Charles J. Schmitt, of Girard, Erie County.

Organization Blast

McClelland's withdrawal was accompanied by a blast at the Democratic organization for attempting to "purge" anti-administration legislators who opposed Gov. George M. Leader's income tax program in the record-long 1955-56 Legislature. McClelland also sounded a warning against a state income tax.

Schmitt said he withdrew in favor of Furman, whom he described as an "oddson favorite" to win the nomination.

On the Republican side, four candidates are seeking the gubernatorial nomination: Arthur T. McGonigle, Reading; Harold E. Stassen; William S. Livingston Jr., Somerset, and Harold J. Vaughn, Alliquippa.

Kresgeville

Mrs. W. E. Andrews

MRS. ARTHUR Hoffman, Willie Hoffman and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hoffman visited Pvt. Arthur Hoffman at Camp Dix on Sunday.

Mrs. Mary Kreger continues on the sick list at her home here.

Keystone Chapter Of Rose Croix To Hold Annual Ceremonial Feast Of Pascal Lamb

KEYSTONE Chapter of Rose Croix, Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry of Scranton, will conduct its annual solemn Ceremonial Feast of the Pascal Lamb and Maundy Thursday Memorial Service on Wednesday, April 2.

The service will be held in Shopland Hall, Masonic Temple Scottish Rite Cathedral.

The public is invited. Maundy Thursday, the Thursday before Easter, marks two historical religious events sacred to Jew and Christian alike.

To the Jew, it is celebrated as the Feast of the Passover, and to the Christian it commemorates the Last Supper.

In Scottish Rite Freemasonry, the Chapter of Rose Croix is charged with this observance as part of its ritualistic obligations and as a memorial to those members who have died during the past year. This is the only public ritualistic ceremony in the Scottish Rite.

Officers of Keystone Chapter of Rose Croix are: Richard A. Garman, Most Wise Master; Stanley G. Jenkins, Senior Warden; E. Harrison Edwards, Jr., Junior Warden; Russell Park, Captain of the Guard; Perry G. Fuller, secretary; and MacDonald Heebner, treasurer.

The music for this service will be furnished by the Keystone Chagisters.

The postponed dinner meeting of the Keystone Consistory Club of Monroe County will be held at 6:45 p.m., today at the Coral Reef Hotel in Tannersville. Scheduled for last Thursday night, it was postponed because of the snowstorm.

24-Second Rule Shunned By Collegiate Committee

By WILL GRIMSLEY
NEW YORK (AP)—The controversial 24-second rule got a chilly brushoff from the Basketball Rules Committee, and a group of college coaches said Tuesday they weren't a bit surprised.

"The rule is good for the pros but no good for the colleges," said Harry Litwack, whose Temple team was a semifinalist in the National Tournament last week-end in Louisville.

Alvin Julian of Dartmouth and Frank O'Connor of Iowa said "Amen."

Rival Coaches
Litwack and O'Connor are rival coaches in the annual East-West

All-Star collegiate basketball game next Saturday night at Madison Square Garden.

They and other coaches, who sounded off vociferously against the 24-second rule, were luncheon guests of the New York Herald Tribune, which sponsors the game for the Fresh Air Fund.

The 24-second rule, used by the professionals, stipulates that a team must take a shot at the basket within 24 seconds after it gets its hands on the ball. Otherwise, a whistle toots and the ball is given to the other side.

The National Basketball Committee, which makes rules for colleges, high schools, YMCA and amateur teams in the United States and Canada, didn't even consider the regulation Monday at its meeting in Louisville.

Strong Bid in '57
A year ago there was a strong campaign to make the rule a part of the college game on the grounds it would prevent late game stalling, cut down deliberate fouls and speed up the game.

"It's understandable that the pros want it," Litwack said. "Their game depends on gate receipts. They must keep the game close to interest crowds. But if you install it in colleges you kill coaching finesse and you end strategy in the game."

Yank Heavy Given Win On Default

LONDON (AP)—Cleveland Williams, hard-hitting heavyweight contender from Houston, Tex., won by disqualification in the fourth round over Welshman Dick Richardson at Empress Hall Tuesday night. Referee Frank Wilson stopped the fight after warning Richardson several times for "persistent butting." Williams weighed 208½, Richardson 203.

Williams, ninth-ranking contender with a long list of knockouts to his credit, felled the 23-year old Richardson, near the end of the first round with a right to the jaw. Richardson leaped up at two.

Welshman Warned
The tall Welshman was warned for charging with his head down in the second, third and fourth rounds. After receiving a stern lecture for butting early in the fourth, Richardson bumped heads with his rival later in the round. Williams came out of the collision with blood streaming from a cut on his cheek.

The referee then stopped the fight and awarded the victory to the American.

Montreal Victor

MONTREAL (AP)—Little Phil Goyette scored the hat trick Tuesday night after Maurice (Rocket) Richard had started a blistering assault, and the Montreal Canadiens romped to a 3-1 victory over the Detroit Red Wings in the first game of their Stanley Cup semifinal.

147 Maximum

The contract for the scheduled 10-rounder calls for the division weight maximum of 147 pounds, give or take a pound. Smith, 24, sometimes has scaled as high as 156½ whereas Hart normally is at 147 or 149.

Each has evidenced terrific punching power. Hart has scored 19 knockouts in compiling a 24-3-1 record. Smith has 12 KOs in his 25-5 log. Hart is listed 7th by the National Boxing Assn., Smith 8th. Ring Magazine, however, rates Smith No. 4 in the division and Hart No. 10.

Hart To Face Smith On TV

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Two young, hard-punching welterweights — Garnett (Sugar) Hart and Charley (Tombstone) Smith—meet Wednesday night in a bout that will move the winner toward the top of the division rankings.

Hart, 22, of Philadelphia, is a 24 favorite for the nationally televised bout (ABC, 10 p.m. EST) at the Arena not only because of his superior record but also because Smith, of Los Angeles, may have to sacrifice some power to make a weight limit.

Robinson Regains Middleweight Title

Harlem Dandy Dethrones Basilio On Split Decision

CHICAGO (AP)—Incredible Sugar Ray Robinson won the world middleweight title for the fifth time Tuesday night closing champion Carmen Basilio's left eye in the sixth round as he took a split 15-round decision in a brutal fight before a capacity crowd in Chicago Stadium.

Ray Robinson

L-Eye Carm Wants Return With Sugar

CHICAGO (AP)—Courageous Carmen Basilio sat on a dressing room table Tuesday night and spoke of a return bout against Sugar Ray Robinson.

Basilio, his left eye area swollen to the size of a discolored billiard ball, told newsmen he was not able to see well from the fourth round on.

"We want a return match," said his co-manager, Joe Netro.

And James Norris, president of the sponsoring International Boxing Club who came in to shake hands with Basilio, said he'd be "very happy" to put Basilio and Robinson in the ring again.

Basilio, who lost the middleweight title to Robinson in a split decision just six months and two days after he won it from Robinson, refused to acknowledge that he lost the night's savage brawl.

Basilio, holding an ice bag to his bad eye and spitting blood into a bucket on the table beside him, said his vision was impaired from the fourth round on.

Irish's McCarthy 1st Star Named

HERSHEY, Pa. — First player named to the 1958 College All Americans squad for their game in the Sports Arena on Monday, March 31, against the Harlem Globetrotters is John McCarthy, co-captain of the University of Notre Dame team this past season.

McCarthy, a 6' 3" forward, averaged almost 20 points per game in 29 games this season. His 556 points scored, added to his career total, gave him 1,108 points for the past three years of competition, making him a member of Notre Dame's 1,000 Point Club, an honor shared by only seven others.

McCarthy is an honor student at Notre Dame, majoring in philosophy. In joining the College All American team, he follows in the footsteps of six other Notre Dame basketball captains, three of whom—Kevin O'Shea, Dick Rostenthal, and John Smyth—were voted Most Valuable Player Awards for their play in previous World Series of Basketball presentations.

Longest field goal in the Big Ten last season was turned in by Bob Prescott of Iowa against Minnesota. His three-pointer went 35 yards.

Basilio, making his first defense since he dethroned Robinson in New York last Sept. 23, was a gargoyle-like fighting knome peering out of one eye for the last 10 rounds of the bitter scrap.

Robinson, who now has recaptured the 160-pound crown four times, tried desperately to knock out his courageous little foe. But although he jolted him time after time he never felled him.

Basilio stunned Sugar Ray several times in the fierce battle.

Both judges voted for Robinson under the five point must system by decisive margins. But Referee Frank Sikora called it for Basilio, 69-66.

In the New York bout, the referee voted for Robinson and the two judges for Basilio. Judge John Bray went for Robinson, 71-64 and Judge Frank McAdams gave it to Sugar Ray, 72-64.

The Associated Press card had Robinson winning, 70-63.

Robinson weighed 159½, Basilio 153.

Turning Point
The turning point came late in the fifth round when Robinson scored a jolting left to the jaw and then crashed a right high to the head which started closing Basilio's left eye.

By the time the sixth round started, there was scarcely a slit in the champion's puffed left eye. It seemed it would be only a short time before Robinson would blast his handicapped opponent to the canvas.

But Basilio fought savagely round after round. Robinson was content to jab at long range through the seventh and eighth. Then in the ninth, Basilio fought with renewed fury and Sugar Ray seemed to tire.

The 10th and 11th proved the most exciting rounds of the match. Basilio hurt Robinson with a left to the jaw and a moment later with a whistling right to the head. Robinson wound up the 10th with a vicious combination that stunned the champion.

In the 11th, both fighters cut loose with punishing blows. But each time one was hurt, he fought back with fury.

By Instinct
In both the 12th and 13th rounds, the champion — fighting purely from instinct — and the stalking challenger flayed away with jarring punches.

In the 14th, Robinson staggered Basilio twice and the crowd, sensing the kill, screamed for a knockout. But the round ended with Basilio bobbing and weaving low as Robinson swished at him with punches that failed to hit their mark.

In the 15th, Robinson tried desperately for a knockout but Basilio hung on and the round closed with Sugar Ray and the champion draped over the ropes with Robinson looking at the clock.

Although there appeared to be a standing room crowd, the sponsoring International Boxing Club announced the attendance as 17,976 with a gross gate of $351,955 and a net of $278,108.

St. Louis Nears Western Crown

DETROIT (AP)—The St. Louis Hawks turned in a blazing first half, coasted the rest of the way and gained a 145-101 victory over the Detroit Pistons Tuesday night.

The triumph gave the Hawks a 3-1 advantage in the western division finals of the National Basketball Assn. playoffs.

The red hot Hawks, recovering from Sunday's 108-89 loss to the Pistons, need one more victory to clinch the best four-of-seven series and move into the championship playoffs.

The Hawks total points broke a two-year-old one-team scoring record for a playoff game of 133 set by Minneapolis. Cliff Hagan and Bob Pettit were the most proficient of the St. Louis marksmen. The jump-shooting Hagan pumped in 28 points and Pettit scored 23.

Skull Murphy, Ricki Starr Phillipsburg Mat Headliners

PHILIPSBURG—Skull Murphy is expected to give Ricki Starr, one of the great names of professional wrestling, a strong fight in the main event of this coming Friday's all-star wrestling show starting at 8:45 p.m. in the Phillipsburg Armory.

Murphy, among the most villainous men in the grappling game today, has appeared all over the country with great success. A native of Ireland, Murphy is medically noted as possessing a skull about twice as thick as that of a normal human being.

A natural "loner," Murphy is savage in the ring, using every hold known, legal and illegal, to subdue his opponents. His favorite trick, however, is to earn victories by pressing his head against a nerve center in the neck of his opponent.

Starr, of course, is noted as the only ballet-dancing wrestler in the game today.

In other events, Sid Youngelman meets Bozo Brown, Ludwig von Krupp and Paul Berger face the team of Roy Heffernan and Al Costello, and the Tolos Brothers clash with Luiz Martinez and the Great Scot.

A percentage of the gate will be donated to the National Guard Welfare Fund, promoter Irish Jimmy Brady said.

Barton, Amick In Trenton Race

TRENTON, N. J.—Buzz Barton of Tampa, Fla. and Red Amick of Muncie, Ind., two of the toughest high-speed drivers in the country today, joined the big group of drivers who will compete Sunday (March 30) in the 100-mile USAC-FIA race for Indianapolis Speedway cars and drivers at the Trenton International Speedway.

Barton is one of several southern aces pointing for the $15,000 jackpot posted for this national title date while Amick will find many Indiana pilots in the ranks here when qualifying time trials begin at 1 p.m. Sunday. Most illustrious of the midwestern chauffeurs is Pat O'Connor, whose winning speed here last year of 102 mph is the current world record.

Try the Turn To the Right

IN THE preceding article I suggested using the No. 5 (king pin) as your target to hold the ball consistently on the right (strike) side of the head pin.

Should that method prove unsatisfactory, however, try turning your shoulders just a bit to the right, as sketch shows. This, of course, is for the hook bowler only.

As you can visualize from the sketch, the little turn to the right "opens up" the angle. It makes it easier to hold the strike line because the body position is immediately to the right of the head pin. How far to turn to the right must be worked out in practice to fit each type of delivery. The turn increases with the size of the hook. The wider the hook-break of the ball, the further the shoulder turn.

Push Outward

With the shoulder turn, it's important (1) that the ball be pushed outward to put it into smooth swing, so that the arm stays close to the body going back and swinging forward and through, and (2) that the stride, assuming a slight angle, is slow, finishing with the foot straight ahead, in line.

Avoid rushing to the foul line, because the inevitable result is a "broadside" finish with the foot, a quick stop, and a sudden, jerky ball release. Take it easy. The first step, whether in three or four step footwork, must be slow, timed with the push-away of the ball. If using five steps, the push-away takes place with the second step.

Swing through all the way, both for direction and an easy arm lift to apply hook spin on the ball. And be sure to hold the ball, as sketch shows, in the palm of your left hand when fitting the grip.

Casey Is Casey, Yankees Are Yankees

Bronx Bombers Still Team To Defeat For AL Pennant

By WALTER L. JOHNS

Central Press Sports Editor
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Yogi Berra walked over to the Yankee batting cage at Huggins Field here, wearing a white glove on one hand.

"What's the glove for, Casey?" this reporter asked, knowing that Yogi was bothered with some sort of rash.

"Who, Yogi?" Casey countered, "why, he's probably going to a noon wedding and he's already started to dress."

This is Casey Stengel, as always, and the Yankees are the Yankees, as always.

Casey, however, was suffering from a cold and probably that World Series setback, and he wasn't his usual self throughout. One could tell that because, ordinarily, Casey just rambles and it takes a United Nations interpreter to untangle his lingo. This day, however, Casey could be made out, with few cuties interspersed.

The defending champions in the American league, who snagged eight pennants in nine years under the old guy, are solid as usual with a few new faces which always bring out the superlatives in Casey's dialogue.

One of the new ones is Deron Johnson, an outfielder who was the most valuable player for Richmond last season. This big fellow impressed in the Yankee rookie camp and has hit several over the center field fence here, 438 feet out, and already is being nicknamed "Long Ball." "Johnson's good. He's going to be good," Casey said emphatically. "And don't leave here until you see him hit because then you won't be able to write your story."

Other newcomers trying to break into the versatile Yankee lineup are Zack Monroe, a 16-game winner with Denver; John James, who was 8-5 with Richmond; Rindol Duren, the 29-year-old rookie who had a 13-2 mark for Denver and tabbed as finally ready; Ed Dick, a strikeout leader at Binghamton; Jim Coates, 14-11 at Richmond; John Blanchard, a power-hitting catcher from Denver; infielders Marv Throneberry and Fritz Brickell, from Denver, and Norm Siebern, the young outfielder, also from Denver.

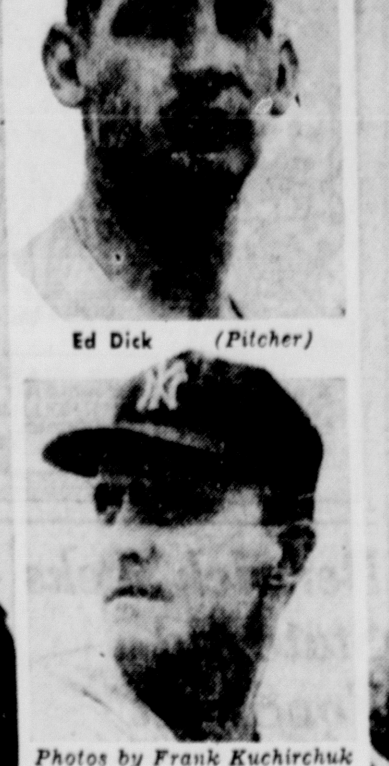

Casey spends most of his time telling you about the versatile players, several of whom can fill in most anywhere. Tony Kubek's draft status may have some effect in the infield, and may be a factor in a deal for Bobby Richardson, whom Cleveland wants.

Pitching Key
The ailing members of the Yanks — Whitey Ford, Mickey Mantle and Moose Skowron, reportedly are in good shape and Mantle apparently is happy with his $75,000 pay, and should be.

The Yankee key could be pitching, although Casey has so many major leaguers on his roster he'll have trouble deciding on starters.

"Our pitching staff isn't bad," Casey smiled. "I got numbers. You know we used to come down here with guys like Reynolds, Raschi and Lopat but today we got numbers."

"I suppose Ford would be No. 1 and we'd be in trouble last year without Bobby Shantz when Ford got hurt. I've got two left-handers with me but you know that brings up the Detroit lineup and did you ever notice how they got almost all right-handed batters?"

"They say I got to make a deal. I don't know. I know that Lane is in town and any time he's in town he gets on the telephone. Oh, well, we'll see what we see."

Back again is that old war-horse, Enos Slaughter, who is ready to fill in anywhere that Casey needs him, and Slaughter looks as young as he has in the past.

The Yankees are a solid club, and with a solid Ford, Berra and some pitching help, they could be even better than last year.

NEXT—The Boston Red Sox.

What Young People Think

Youth Leans To Simple Weddings

By Eugene Gilbert
President of the Gilbert
Youth Research Co.
IT LOOKS like the hard-pressed father of the bride may be able to relax one of these days. His teen-age sons — and, more important, his daughters — are leaning toward small, informal weddings.

Of the fact that actual weddings these days are reported to be more lavish and elaborate than ever.

Our latest survey of youth-ful thoughts in America came up with the information that only three girls out of seven and one boy in four say now that they would prefer being married with pomp and ceremony.

And there are indications that those who want a formal wedding are influenced by the fact that they feel their parents expect it of them.

"I would like to make it very simple but mother would have a fit," said Ann Clark of Jacksonville, Fla. "After all, I'm her only daughter and she's been looking forward to my wedding since the day I was born."

HELD OVER! SHERMAN

THRU SATURDAY
Feature At 6:45 & 9:20

Nevertheless, if they want a big wedding or a small one, the teenagers are almost unanimous in the feeling that they should not share in the wedding expenses. Ninety five per cent of them felt that way.

No Elitements, Please
Parental blessing, as well as dad's check book, also is important to altar-bound youth. Less than one percent of the youngsters told us they would like to elope. They're suspicious of elopement marriages.

"My brother eloped," said a Chicago boy. "By the time my mother and dad forgave him, he and his wife were separated."

On the other hand, an 18-year-old Colorado girl confided, "The way it looks, the only way I can get married is to elope. My mother almost dies every time I seem to be interested in a man, although my friends, many of them, are engaged already."

Many fewer than one percent of those polled, said they thought their mothers or fathers would like to have them elope.

More teen agers want to be married in private homes than any other place. There again they are flying in the face of the known popularity of the church wedding right now.

One in five told us they'd prefer being married in their own homes and one in eight said they'd choose the home of a friend or relative. One in five wanted a hotel or other public building.

It is not strange that the girls, who are more apt to like a pompous wedding than the boys, also lean more toward a church wedding. Roughly one out of three want a church wedding—37 per cent of the girls and 24 per cent of the boys.

Money The Cue
Both practicality and moon-beams ruled the teen-agers' thoughts as to the length of honeymoon they should have. For the practical, money is the guide.

"I'd like to have my honeymoon as long as possible," said a 17-year-old Bronx, N. Y., boy, "but I think it is going to be very short because I don't think I'm going to have much money."

"As long as my husband can afford is the time I would like honeymoon," said Judy Fox of Syracuse, N. Y.

"I'd love to go to Paris but probably wouldn't have the money," a New Jersey girl told us.

"My whole life would be a honeymoon," sighed starry-eyed Linda of Syracuse, N. Y.

The Longer The Better
About two out of three teenagers would like a month's honeymoon and one in five thinks his or her honeymoon should be about two weeks long.

Barbara Galajda, 14, of Yonkers, N. Y., figures two weeks would be an appropriate time for the bride and groom to get to know each other but, she adds:

"A true honeymoon should last the rest of married life." Honeymoons didn't mean too much to two girls we interviewed.

"All I want is a nice groom," said a Baltimore lass.

"I don't think I'll get married in the first place," said a bitter 16-year-old.

We'll ask her again in a couple of years.

Basic studies aimed at solving secrets of cancer were described by several teams of National Cancer Institute researchers.

Hair Test Treatment For Cancer

BETHESDA, Md. (AP)—A human hair test is helping doctors treat some cancer patients here.

Hair roots are affected by a drug, amethopterin, used in treating leukemia. By pulling out some hairs and looking at the roots under a microscope, doctors can see signs of how well the drug is working and whether more can safely be given.

The drug causes changes in hair roots like those from exposure to radiation. The same kind of hair test might be helpful in learning how much radiation a person had been exposed to in an atomic accident.

The hair studies were described Monday by Drs. E. J. Van Scott and R. P. Reinertson of the National Cancer Institute at the beginning of an American Cancer Society tour for science writers of cancer research centers across the country.

Growing Tissue
Hair is one of the fastest growing tissues of your body, Dr. Van Scott explained. It is affected by fever, some drugs, some illnesses, by X-rays and other radiation. Hair roots are withered and damaged in proportion to the amount of radiation they get.

Similar withering is caused by amethopterin, one of the potent antileukemia drugs. Changes in the hair roots indicate how much damaging effect the drug is producing in combating the disease, and whether the dosage should be increased or decreased.

Basic studies aimed at solving secrets of cancer were described by several teams of National Cancer Institute researchers.

In one experiment, a single healthy cell taken from a mouse has given rise to two lines or strains of cells which can produce cancers in mice, said Dr. Katherine K. Sanford.

The single cell was kept alive in a test tube, growing and dividing until there were several million cells. These were divided into separate groups and they continued to grow. One line now is able quickly to produce cancers in mice almost every time it is injected.

Other lines grow slowly in mice and rarely produce cancers.

The original healthy cell underwent some inheritable change when it was grown artificially, free from association with other cells and body fluids. The changes offer a tool for trying to pinpoint some differences in the basic behavior of cancer cells, Dr. Sanford said.

Berwick Seeks State Aid For Street

HARRISBURG (AP)—A delegation from the Berwick Borough Council asked State Highway Secretary Lewis M. Stevens, yesterday to have about a mile of Front Street in the Columbia County borough improved.

Stevens and department officials agreed with the delegation that the street, is part of U. S. 11, is in poor condition. Stevens directed the district engineer, Walter E. Fries, to contact council member Ted Steuben to determine specifically what the council wants done.

Federal Aid
It is expected that such an improvement project would be eligible for federal aid. The delegation urged that the work be undertaken to alleviate unemployment in the borough.

The council members attending were Steuben, Elwood Kramer, Frank Buffone and Henry Mosteller. John Timbrell, Columbia County Democratic chairman, accompanied the group.

Deficit Again
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Pennsylvania Railroad has reported a loss of $8,816,000 for February, the fourth month in a row in which it operated at a deficit.

County Draft For April To Decrease

(Record Harrisburg Bureau)
HARRISBURG — In contrast with the increase in the statewide quota for April, the number of Monroe County youths scheduled to be called up in next month's draft call has decreased. State Selective Service Headquarters disclosed yesterday.

The April total of five compares with six county youths called during the current month, three in February and four in January.

Comparison

Local registrants during April will be made up entirely from local board 105, Stroudsburg.

The Monroe County youths are among 1,204 being called to fill a statewide quota of 905. This compares with the present quota of 895 for March, 861 for February and 696 for January.

Moose Lodge Announces Governor

BANGOR — Walter Weaver was elected governor of State City Lodge 72, Loyal Order of Moose, during the meeting at the local home Monday night.

Granvil Lang also was named junior governor; Granville Ross, prelate; Kenneth Hunt, treasurer; Robert Ferrell, secretary; Clarence Short, past governor; Stanley Ratkowski, sergeant-at-arms; and Short, Raymond Godshalk and Thomas DiLippantonio, trustees.

Arrangements

Dollar night was scheduled for Saturday, with entertainment to be furnished. Arrangements also were advanced for the Easter egg hunt Sunday at 2 p.m. at the park. All children of the community, ages one to 15 years, are invited to participate.

It was urged that donations of eggs for the hunt be made no later than tomorrow. They may be left at the home or with lodge officials. It also was noted that the house committee or the steward should be contacted in scheduling shuffleboard matches.

Refreshments were served at the close of the session.

Open House At Portland

PORTLAND — Open House will be held Friday night at the Portland School. All parents and friends are invited to attend.

The program will start at 8 p.m. with a physical education exhibition in the gymnasium.

Visitations

Afterward, all rooms in the school will be open for visitations. The work of the pupils will be on display in all the grades and in the two special education rooms at the Masonic Temple.

The school band and majorities will entertain. Kenneth Fritz is the director. The program will be followed by refreshments in the cafeteria.

Pig Roast At VFW

THE THOMAS P. Lambert Veterans of Foreign Wars Post Membership Committee will be guests at a Pig Roast in the post home today.

The roast is scheduled for 6:30 p.m.

The roast is being held as a successful finish to a membership drive that closes on Saturday.

Double 1957 Output

TOKYO — Peiping radio reports Red China will make 750,000 radio sets this year, doubling the 1957 production.
